BIG PAY TO SUPPORT THE CANAL PURCHASE

Business Manager Dodsworth of New York Journal of Commerce Tells of Attempt Made to Buy Him.

SHIP SUBSIDY QUIZ EXPLODES AGAIN

Washington, Jan. 26.—Still another attempt to buy the influence of the New York Journal of Commerce in addition to the propositions admitted yesterday, was disclosed to the house ship subsidy investigating committee today by Alfred Warren Dodsworth, business manager of that paper. All the propositions were declined.

The latest disclosed attempt was an offer of $36,000 to support editorially the plan for the sale of the De Lesseps Panama canal property to the United States.

Spain Wanted to Pay Him.

This made a total of $176,000 offered the paper according to Dodsworth, in definite amounts of three offers, besides an unnamed amount from the Spanish government and a check which John Roach is alleged to have told the elder Dodsworth that he could fill out with any figure he chose.

Charles R. Williams, of the Indianapolis News, identified a number of editorials in his paper concerning ship subsidy, and said he knew there was a very active propaganda for merchant marine legislation, but he knew nothing definitely as to any corrupting influence.

Knows Nothing of Other Papers.

Pressed as to the $10,000 proposition which he revealed yesterday, Mr. Dodsworth said he had told the committee everything he could and that he knew of no similar attempts to buy the influence of other papers.

As to the $40,000 proposition from a man who said he was a Washington lobbyist, Mr. Dodsworth said he assumed of course, the lobbyist represented ship subsidy interests. He said, however, that the "lobbyist" said nothing to show evidence of responsibility.

"At the time that De Lesseps visited this country and was entertained by the New York Chamber of Commerce," said Mr. Dodsworth, "a representative of the Panama Canal company, it was then a French company, made our paper a proposition through my father for editorial support and said that there was $36,000 of a fund that was left that we might have."

Wanted to Get Paper on Record.

Mr. Dodsworth said the $40,000 proposition "was an attempt to get us into the ditch on the subsidy question and use our article wherever those interests might think it best."

G. Waldo Smith, a member of the New York Chamber of Commerce and Produce exchange, said he had known of strong rumors as to influence of foreign shipping in commercial bodies, but had no definite information as to lobbying.

As the result of the new evidence, Mr. Dodsworth's brother, John W. Dodsworth, editor of The Journal of Commerce, will be recalled to Washington to explain why he failed to enlighten the committee during his recent testimony.

Facts Not Detailed.

Alfred W. Dodsworth arrived at the committee room with a carefully prepared list of questions he wanted to have propounded to him, impelled by what he regarded as a misrepresentation of the attitude of his paper.

The testimony, however, suddenly broadened in scope, and the witness sought refuge in referring the committee to his brother for detailed enlightenment.

The witness said his paper never had been subsidized by any interests whatever, and its business and editorial columns had no relation. But, he testified, about six years ago and unknown person came into his office and offered to pay The Journal of Commerce $100,000, taking 1,000,000 copies of his paper for the insertion of an article in one issue, supporting the ship subsidy legislation.

This man refused to disclose his identity unless his proposition was to be accepted. His proposition was, in the event of acceptance, to make out a certified check immediately for $10,000 to bind the agreement and to pay the balance of $90,000 upon publication of the article. Mr. Dodsworth said he immediately called his brother, John W., into his office as a witness to the conversation and the proposition was turned down as an attempt to make an improper arrangement.

That, however, was only one such event. Pressed by the committee, Mr. Dodsworth said that, about thirty years ago, his father was sitting in his office, the same publication, and John Roach, the ship builder, who was then building ships and active for a ship subsidy bill, entered the office, laid down a blank check, asked Dodsworth to fill out the check and stop writing against ship subsidy. The offer was refused.

Another man, about two years ago, Dodsworth said, tried to buy the support of the paper for $40,000, and during the Spanish-American war the Spanish government tried to buy the paper's influence.

Chairman Olcott, Representative Longworth, of Ohio, and other members of the committee sharply criticised the two brothers for failing to submit this information to the committee before now, pointing out that John W. Dodsworth, in his testimony some time ago, had been asked categorically as to such matters and had denied any information such as that disclosed today. The witness said the committee would have to ask the brother why he failed to disclose the information.

Reveals But Little.

Chairman Olcott asked the witness who represented the Spanish government when it tried to buy his paper's support. Mr. Dodsworth replied that information of the proposition came from Charles A. Conant, who was then the paper's Washington correspondent.

Pressed as to the identity of the man who made the offer, Mr. Dodsworth said his father or brother may have been told, but he himself had not been told.

Mr. Dodsworth, asked what he regarded the ship subsidy interests, mentioned the Ward line and the New York and Porto Rico Steamship company, but did not recall others.

He said he could not undertake to name the persons who made the $100,000 offer, but he believed it came from ship subsidy interests, and when pressed as to what he meant by that he mentioned the Cramps and the Roaches as interests coming under that head.

ROACH, JUNIOR, DENIES IT.

Philadelphia, Jan. 26.—Statements and inference that his father, John Roach, the Chester shipbuilder, had offerd to bribe the New York Journal of Commerce to support a ship subsidy bill, were characterized by John B. Roach today as untrue.

Similar inference regarding the William Cramp Shipbuilding company made yesterday by Alfred W. Dodsworth, business manager of that paper, before the house ship subsidy investigating committee at Washington was characterized by a high official of that company as untrue and without the slightest foundation.

Disclaiming any present interest in ship building or in ship subsidy, John B. Roach said:

"I, of course, being only 33 years old, know nothing personally what my father may have done thirty years ago.

"True, it is, he was strongly in favor of a ship subsidy law, but he, above all men that I ever knew, would not resort to bribery to have such a measure enacted."

The official at Cramps was more brief. "The statement of Mr. Dodsworth is not true," he said, "so far as it relates to Cramps. You cannot make that too emphatic. Neither did a representative of this company offer to bribe his paper nor was the company associated with any 'interests' which did."

SHIP TRUST TRIED TO BUY.

Washington, Jan. 26.—That an offer of $100,000 was made to the New York Journal of Comerce on condition that it publish an article favoring ship subsidy legislation, was testified to before the house ship subsidy investigation committee yesterday.

These facts were brought out by Alfred W. Dodsworth, business manager of The Journal of Commerce and The Commercial Bulletin.

Earlier in the day it was shown by the testimony of Paul G. Fournier, representing the Uranium Steamship line, that the railroads of the country, notably the Central Passenger association, had refused to sell tickets routed over the independent lines unless the independents obtained the sanction of the conference lines. The Uranium line, it is said, is being attacked by the so-called London conference lines, which control 98 per cent of the Atlantic passenger traffic.

ROBERTA IS VERY, VERY HAPPY

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 26.—Hidden from the eyes of the world and enjoying their honeymoon in their own way, Stephen W. Glazer and his bride, formerly Miss Roberta Bulst de Janon, the youthful heiress of Philadelphia, are living here. They are at home to no one. The young couple took out a license to marry a few days ago in this city. It is understood they were married yesterday.

MACCABEES GO TO AUBURN.

A large class of candidates was initiated into the Maccabees Interurban association, at Auburn, Wednesday night, by the degree team of Wayne tent No. 54, K. O. T. M., which, with a large body of delegates from the local lodge, attended the meeting. A number of state officers were also present at the session.

DR. MAURICE MOORE DEAD.

Vincennes, Ind., Jan. 26.—Dr. Maurice G. Moore, a brother-in-law of John W. Cravens, registrar of Indiana university, died at his home here today after a long illness. Dr. Moore was stricken while attending a medical fraternity banquet in Bloomington last fall and never fully recovered.

OPTION BILL HOUSE ORDER

Repeal Measure Will Pass This Afternoon and Go to the Governor.

MUCH ORATORY IS TO BE UNCORKED

Many Speakers on Both Sides of the Issue Will Be Heard.

Indianapolis, Jan. 26.—The county option repeal bill, known as the Proctor-Keeney measure, passed by the senate Tuesday, is the special order in the house at 3 o'clock this afternoon and at that time the bill will be placed upon its passage.

After a season of oratory, in which many members desire to be heard both pro and con, the bill will be passed and before the day is done will doubtless go to the governor for signature.

The Proctor-Keeney measure contains an emergency clause and consequently will go into effect at once.

THE DAY IN THE LEGISLATURE.

Indianapolis, Jan. 26.—With all the time consumed with the second reading of bills and desultory discussions incident thereto, the promised fight over the child labor bill failed to materialize in the lower house of the Indiana legislature today.

The two special orders of business for this afternoon—one for two o'clock and one for three o'clock, it is probable that the child labor measure will not be reported out today. The Strickland bill, which provides for the erection of armories by the county authorities will be threshed out at 2 o'clock when Representative Edmund M. Wasmuth, of Huntington county will, it is said, press his fight to make the matter of construction optional rather than mandatory.

Option Measure is Up.

At 3 o'clock the Proctor-Keeney local option measure will be taken up. A formidable list of speakers renders the possibility of anything else being considered today very remote. Those who will speak for the measure are Representatives Seidensticker, McKennan, Wise, Wells and Wider. Representative Wider is a republican, while the other speakers in this list are democrats. Those who will speak against the measure are Representatives Eschbach, Faris, Furnas, Bedgood, McClew, Mendenhall, Troyer, Ratliff, Berry, Oglebay, Cohee, Williams and Oldaker. All those speaking against the bill are republicans. It is said Speaker Albert J. Veneman may address the house.

Two Bills Pass Senate.

Two bills were passed in the senate this morning—one by Senator C. P. Akin, of Sullivan county, providing for the devision of the Sullivan-Greene court circuit, and making Sullivan county the fourteenth judicial circuit and Greene county the sixty-third judicial circuit. In addition to the author of the bill, Senator Fred W. Beal and Samuel D. Royse, of Terre Haute, advocated the passage of the measure. The vote was 41 to 2.

The Wood bill for the assistance of county farmers' institutes from the general fund of the county on a basis of 25 cents for each square mile of territory instead of the same sum for each member of the organization passed without a dissenting vote. Money so derived from the county fund shall not be in excess of the actual expense of holding institute meetings. The bill seeks to provide more revenue for the encouragement of institutes.

Met Some Opposition.

A bill offered by Representative Leonard B. Clore, of Franklin, known as the "corn king," drawn along the same line as the Wood bill, met with some opposition when Representative M. C. Thornton, of New Albany, ob-

Revolutionary Forces Are Scattered by Government Troops.

BONILLA MEN ROUTED

Washington, Jan. 26.—The revolutionists of Honduras were defeated Monday in the neighborhood of Sananton1o, Honduras. They were scattered and it is reported that Colonel Valasquez, a leader of General Bonilla's army, was killed. Minister McCreery at Tegucigalpa telegraphed this to the state department today.

WHITE TAKES SEAT IN APRIL.

New President of Mine Workers Will Not at Once Assume Office.

Columbus, O., Jan. 26.—The United Mine Workers of America today are expected to take up the various resolutions before the convention and get down to real business. The new president, John P. White, of Oskaloosa, Ia., will not take his seat until April 1. It is expected that the proposition to call a general strike in the Irwin field in Pennsylvania and also in Nova Scotia, Colorado and the Tuscarawas district in Ohio will be taken up.

JUDGE TELLS IT TO JURY

The Honorable Kimbrough is Witness Before Body He Summoned.

TELLS OF AUTO LOAD OF MONEY

Cash Merely to Pay Off the Workers—The Inquiry at Danville.

Danville, Ill., Jan. 26.—Judge E. R. E. Kimbrough, instigator of the present Vermilion county grand jury investigation of alleged vote traffic, previous to going before the grand jury himself today, frankly discussed the story being told here that he and Mayor Platt, at the latter's election, went around to the precincts with an automobile carrying money to the workers.

The judge freely admitted that he made such a trip, but he positively and emphatically denied that the money was to be used for illegitimate purposes. As a part of the interview Judge Kimbrough made it clear that vote buying was not a crime in Danville, operating under the special city election law, after eighteen months had passed.

Only to Pay Off "Workers."

"Why, yes," said Judge Kimbrough when told of stories being circulated about his automobile ride. "I went around with Mayor Platt. There isn't anything wrong about that. And it is true that our automobile carried money to the precincts. But why?

"Anyone who has lived in Danville long knows that candidates pay off their organization men—ward workers, etc.—on the day of election. That's what the money Mayor Platt and I carried was used for—to pay off the workers. Any statement to the contrary is a lie, absolutely and unequivocally a lie, and I never was in an automobile wreck in my life."

Vote Buying Not a Crime.

Judge Kimbrough also explained his interpretation of the law relating to vote traffic, which resulted in his instructions to the investigators.

"In brief, this is it," he said. "Outside of Danville, vote buying is not a crime. In Danville it is not a crime after eighteen months have passed.

JURY IN SCHENK CASE IS HUNG

Mistrial of Alleged Woman Poisoner is Now Fully Looked For.

JURORS ASK RECORDS

Wheeling, W. Va., Jan. 26.—After being out twenty-four hours the jury in the Schenk case asked to be dismissed as they were hopelessly divided. Judge Jordan refused to consider the request. The defense claims the jury is 10 to 2 for acquittal and the prosecution makes the same claim for its side.

During the morning the jury called for the records of the evidence of Florence Coleman, the negro maid, who testified regarding the presence of certain persons in the Schenk home on given days.

J. J. P. O'Brien, chief counsel for the defense, says that each hour the jury is out makes it better for the defendant, while Prosecutor Handlan is confident a verdict of guilty will be returned.

BALL CLUB GETS INJUNCTION.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—The Dubuque club of the "Three I" league, obtained an injunction today restraining officials of the league from taking action to deprive the club of being heard on questions affecting it at the league meeting here. The court order followed a report that it had been planned to drop Dubuque from the league before taking like action against Waterloo.

NO VERDICT AT WHEELING.

Wheeling, W. Va., Jan. 26.—No verdict had been reached when the Schenk jury came into court from the hotel this morning at 9 o'clock. The jurors retired at once to the jury room and resumed their deliberations.

THE WEATHER.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Forecast for Indiana—Rain tonight; Friday rain in south; rain or snow in north portion; colder after noon or night.

Ohio—Rain tonight; Friday, rain in south; rain or snow in north; colder in northwest portion; moderate south winds, shifting to northwest Friday or Friday night.

Lower Michigan—Rain in south; rain or snow and colder in north portion tonight; Friday colder; snow in north and west; rain or snow in southeast portion; moderate south winds, shifting to northwest Friday.

Illinois—Rain and colder tonight, turning into snow flurries and much colder Friday; cold wave Friday in northwest portion.

GRICE WAITS ON A REPORT

Will Reconstruct Police Department if Charges Are Found True.

MAY GO OUTSIDE FOR A NEW MAN

Still Denies That Elliott's Resignation Has Been Sent In.

That there will be a reconstruction of the police department of Fort Wayne following the report of the grand jury, which is scheduled for tomorrow morning, is admitted by Mayor Jesse Grice, who said this morning that "there'll be a cleaning if anything is wrong," adding that the first thing to do would be to "pick the heads."

That there is something "wrong" is pretty generally conceded and by picking the heads the mayor means that there will be a new chief, a new captain and possibly new men in one or two other positions. He did not say so in as many words, but developments have convinced him that to restore any sort of discipline in his force changes are absolutely necessary.

Will Go Outside.

If a new chief is selected he will in all probability be taken from outside the department if a man of the right caliber can be found willing to work for the small salary the office pays.

This also applies to the position of captain and the matter has gone so far that a man employed on Capt. Stoll's Pennsylvania railroad force has been prominently mentioned for the place. He would accept it if it were offered to him and it may be.

Stands on the Denial.

Mayor Grice stands on his denial that there has been a resignation tendered to him personally or to the board of public safety so far as he knows. Mr. Elliott just simply says he will not talk and he will not deny nor admit that his resignation is in.

Whether or not there are other resignations written out and in the hands of persons who will file them with the board of public safety is a question that nobody wants to answer, but it is firmly believed that there are at least two.

Mr. Grice was before the grand jury Wednesday afternoon for ten minutes. He very naturally declined to say what transpired while he was there, but he insists that the police regulation has been better since his administration began than it ever was before.

He says he is honest in his intention of ridding the force of undesirables and has no defense to offer for the men who may have violated the rules of the police department. Whether the general cleaning will go further than the police department or whether it will begin at the top is a question that the mayor does not want to answer. He made up his mind when the grand jury was called that his action would be governed entirely by the returns the body will make and he says he will adhere to that.

May Extend Beyond Police.

If it is shown by the grand jury investigation that profits in the underworld are big enough to inspire those into whose hands they go to tempt the police force with offers of presents then it is highly probable that the matter of police regulation will go into this phase of the situation.

This means more drastic regulation for the inmates of the houses of ill fame in Fort Wayne, but whatever the outcome the city is due for a wholesale cleaning if the mayor fulfills the promises he has made since the investigation was started.

Story Not New One.

The story of Chief Ben Elliott's resignation was not a new one. It had been known for several days that he had consented to resign. The Senti-

SOL HATHAWAY TIRED OF GRIND

AN INDIANAPOLIS MAN

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 26.—Despondent from a long illness Sol P. Hathaway, publisher of the Independent, a weekly newspaper of this city, committed suicide at his home here today by shooting. Mr. Hathaway was past eighty years of age.

Some time ago the aged publisher fell, breaking his hip and causing a long illness from which he never fully recovered.

He had been engaged in newspaper work practically all his life and was active until a short time ago. He was well known in Indianapolis and over the state. He is survived by a widow, three sons and a daughter.

NEW AEROPLANE RECORD.

Douscy, Adrennes, France, Jan. 26.—Roger Sommer took up six passengers in a large biplane today, and after circling the aerodrome at a height of 100 feet, flew to Romilly and returned, establishing a new world's record for a cross-country flight with passengers and a new mark for total weight lifted.

STATE UNIVERSITY IS GIVEN $225.000

Dr. and Mrs. Long Give Sum for Hospital to Medical Department.

MUST BEAR HIS NAME

Indianapolis, Jan. 26.—In a special message to the Indiana general assembly today Governor Marshall announced a gift of approximately $225,000 to Indiana university for the establishment of a hospital in Indianapolis in connection with the Indiana university school of medicine. The gift is offered by Dr. Robert W. Long and his wife, Clara J. Long, of Indianapolis, and is on condition that the terms of the gift be accepted by the general assembly at the present session.

Had Long Planned the Gift.

Dr. and Mrs. Long in offering the gift, which consists of real estate in Indianapolis and Marion county, to the trustees of Indiana university say that for a number of years they had planned the establishment of a hospital in Indianapolis and after giving the matter close consideration decided that this could be done through the agency of the trustees of Indiana university in connection with the Indiana university school of medicine.

Conditions of the Gift.

The provisions attached to the gift are:

That the hospital forever bear the name of "Robert W. Long Hospital of Indiana University."

That not less than 60 per cent of the gift be used in the construction of the hospital.

That Dr. Robert W. Long shall be, during the remainder of his lifttime, chairman of the committee appointed by the trustees of Indiana university to build and manage said hospital.

Dr. Long who, with his wife, makes the gift, is one of the oldest physicians in point of practice in the state.

The governor's message, which advocated the acceptance of the gift, was referred to the committees on public health, education and the affairs of the city of Indianapolis in the senate and to the ways and means committee in the house.

SCOTS IN CELEBRATION.

Burns Anniversary Observed by Caledonian Society.

Scottish residents of Fort Wayne embraced within the membership of the Caledonian society appropriately observed the birthday anniversary of the poet Burns in a musical and literary program last night at Caledonian hall that proved to be a very charming affair, and at its close the membership enjoyed a program of dancing.

Vice President William Lawson presided, and among the principal features were the address of Rev. E. Montgomery, who spoke on the life and work of Burns, and Dr. K. K. Wheelock's recital of his impressions of "Scotland's Banks and Braes." Others who contributed to the make-up of the enjoyable program were Charles Cousar, Miss Nellie Lawson, the Euclid quartet Mrs. William Johnson, Mrs. Charles A. Meigs, Miss Mary Brown, Virginia and Jack Gilliom, Miss Belle Wilson and Robert Sinclair.

SCOUT REPORT OF ACCIDENT.

No Credence Given Story of Explosion on the Wheeling.

Washington, Jan. 26.—In view of the alarming report about an accident to the gunboat Wheeling, the navy department today instructed the wireless stations at Norfolk and Key West to exert every effort to get into communication with the vessel. The rumor that the gunboat has been blown up at sea is discredited in official quarters here. The Wheeling left New York for Guantanamo January 20 and is due there tomorrow. The gunboat is on her way to Central America for service in those waters.

BURNING STEAMER IN PORT

San Francisco, Jan. 26—The steamer Queen, on which a fire broke out last night while she was at sea off Point Reyes, returned to port shortly before 3 o'clock this morning with the fire still burning. Her passengers, ninety-two in number, were immediately taken off by launches, which met her in the stream.

The steamer will be sunk if the flames cannot be extinguished.

FIREMAN KILLED AT BLAZE.

Troy, N. Y., Jan. 26.—Lieut. Edward J. Butler, a fireman, was so seriously injured by a wall which fell during a downtown fire today that he died shortly after. Five other firemen fell with the wall, but none was badly hurt, though Harry Kendall was severely injured in rescuing them. The property loss was $600,000.

SLAUGHTER HAS STOPPED.

Manila, Jan. 26.—General Pershing, commander of the department of Mindanao, has ended the punitive campaign in the Davao district, having killed or captured all the murderers and dispersed the lawless Manoho bands.

IOWA DEADLOCK CONTINUES.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 26.—Today's ballot on United States senator in the Iowa legislature resulted: Funk, 35; Kenyon, 34; Young, 34; Garst, 1; Porter, (democrat) 53; absent, 1. Necessary to elect, 80.

Mrs. J. H. Notestine is now recovering after an illness of about ten days.

LADIES WANT THEIR VOTES

WANT THE MEASURE TO BECOME A LAW.

General News and Gossip of Doings of Hoosier Legislature.

Indianapolis, Jan. 26.—Woman militant does not intend that the upper division of the general assembly shall forget that one of the measures proposed for its consideration is the bill that would give to them the right of suffrage in cities and towns on school and municipal affairs. The measure was introduced by Senator Levi P. Harlan, of Indianapolis, and to date he has received hundreds of letters from his near constituents endorsing the bill and urging him to work zealously for its passage.

Senator Dalem D. Clark, of Indianapolis, is also receiving like letters every day and his desk is stacked high with communications endorsing the bill. Every member of the senate has been written to by women of his portion of the state showing a widespread interest in the bill and promising to exercise the right of suffrage if the bill becomes an act.

A public hearing has been arranged for the purpose of inquiring into the constitutionality of the bill and also to hear the arguments of the Women's Federation of Clubs for the bill.

Why Solons Get Sick.

Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the state board of health, who has estimated that from twenty to thirty per cent of the members of the legislature go home to sick beds after the close of the session, has turned over to Senator S. B. Fleming, of Fort Wayne, a bill to secure the proper ventilation of the state house.

"The air in this chamber is simply vile," said Dr. Hurty, speaking of the senate chamber, "and it is largely responsible for the illness that is sure to follow this session. My proposed bill will create a board, consisting of the governor, the auditor of state and the secretary of state, to call in a ventilating engineer who shall investigate the situation and report to the next legislature plans for a complete system covering the while state building.

"By pumping the air it can be made much better and I predict that when the rooms are properly ventilated there will be an appreciable reduction in the amount of illness."

Bill for City Park Land.

Senator John A. Hibberd, of South Bend, has introduced a bill in the senate for the purpose of allowing cities to use land for park purposes under the control of the county commissioners. The measure is drawn so that commissioners shall have the authority to allow such land to be used and the city authorities may likewise make all proper arrangements to care for the land. A radius of one and one-half miles from the city limits is set for the application of the provisions of the act and such land, when turned over to the city authorities is subject to such restrictions and specifications as the county commissioners shall designate at the time of the transfer.

In case at any time the city shall determine to abandon the land used for park purposes, the county commissioners are given authority to sell and convey the land and turn the money derived from the sale back into the county treasury.

The senate committee on mines and mining will probably report a shot firers bill out before the end of the week. Senators Will R. Carleton, of Evansville, and C. T. Akin, of Sullivan county, each have bills which cover the same topic, but Senator Carleton, chairman of the committee, believes that the Akin bill is more extensive than his own and as it is in keeping with the desires of the mine workers it will probably be reported with amendments.

City Judges May Not Practice Law.

A bill for the purpose of denying city judges the right to practice law during their incumbency of the office has been introduced in the house by Representative Thomas Wright, of Warrick county, and it has aroused resentment from the men who are its objects. The measure applies to Fort Wayne, Evansville, South Bend and Terre Haute and is said to be for the purpose of preventing judges from taking part in cases that may afterward come before them.

Judge P. C. Gould, of Evansville, however, regards the bill as a bad measure and spent yesterday in Indianapolis working against it. "Should the bill pass," said the judge, "it would mean that all of the judges in the cities of the state would resign for there is not enough in the office to attract a reputable lawyer unless he can practice outside of court."

"Men are drafted before they will go on the ticket in Evansville and such a bill would mean that it would be practically impossible to get a good man for the place. There is about an hour's work a day connected with the office at the present time and for that reason I see no need to compell the judge to abstain from the practice of the law for the rest of his time.

Rev. N. C. Shirey, district superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, has succeeded in securing the Majestic theater for the Sunday afternoon mass meeting of the league field day, which will be held Feb. 5.

SAW NO CLASH OF REVOLUTION

Fort Wayne Men Home from Mexico Were Not in Trouble Zone.

SAW FEW PRISONERS

Without having seen any of the revolutionary activity now prevalent in that country, Dr. L. A. Worch and L. M. Beck arrived in the city Wednesday evening on their return from a trip to Mexico. They spent some three weeks in President Diaz's country, but did not invade the trouble zone and the only trace of the insurrection that came to their notice was a small band of revolutionists that had been taken prisoners by the Mexican troops and sent away from the scene of conflict for safe-keeping.

The Fort Wayne men penetrated deeply into the state of Durango, where is located the camp of the Palomas Water Power and Concentrating company, which is largely owned by Fort Wayne capital, and which is under the personal direction of E. M. Shutt, of this city. It is declared to be one of the finest mining prospects in Mexico.

To reach the camp it was necessary for the Fort Wayne men to make a forty-mile journey on the back of mules across several ranges of mountains, one of them being the Costa Blanca range, which is 14,500 feet above sea level at the point where the trail crosses. Two days were necessary in each direction in making the trip.

"The climate in Mexico is delightful," said Dr. Worch today, "but the poor people there are the poorest on earth."

net could as well have published this fact last week as when it did.

It had been intended to withhold it until the grand jury had finally reported in order not to hamper Prosecutor Albert E. Thomas in his work, but when it became known that the story would be made public through other sources there was nothing left but the publication of the facts.

Mr. Thomas has been greatly annoyed since the rumor was given publication. It will not particularly interfere with his business in the grand jury room now, but his office telephone was kept jingling last night by people who wanted to ask him questions that he could not answer without telling secrets.

Had Talked a Little.

That the mayor knew his chief of police would resign is admitted by Mr. Grice, who says that he and Mr. Elliott "talked a little bit" about it. They were closeted on several occasions recently and it is very evident that this subject had been canvassed, although no tender of a written resignation had been made.

Very little is being said by public officials generally about the matter. They have apparently determined to refrain from any discussion until the report of the grand jury is in.

WAGON DRIVER RESIGNS.

George Welch Will Go Into Business With His Father.

George F. Welch, for the last three or four years day driver of the patrol wagon, tendered his resignation to Chief Elliott this morning. He announces that he will engage in business with his father, John H. Welch. The resignation will become effective February 1. Mr. Welch was a driver in the fire department before he was transferred to the police force and he quits to take an interest in the firm of John H. Welch & Sons, which offers him more remuneration than his place on the force.

WAS FORMERLY A LETTER CARRIER

HERE SINCE BOYHOOD

William H. Clear, familiarly known as "Murph," who has been employed for several years as a clerk at the Lake Shore hotel, died at 7 o'clock Thursday morning at St. Joseph's hospital at the age of 53 years. For several months Mr. Clear has been suffering from an affection of the throat, and on Wednesday submitted to a surgical operation. He was apparently making satisfactory progress toward recovery until there came a sinking spell early today and he passed away.

Mr. Clear was born in Cincinnati and had lived in Fort Wayne since boyhood. Years ago while a cash boy in Foster Brothers' dry goods store he was given the nickname of "Murph," which clung to him during the remainder of his life and by which he was known to many of his friends. During the administration of Postmaster Kaough twenty-five years ago Mr. Clear was a member of the city letter carrier force. He was unmarried and is survived by one brother, M. J. Clear, a photographer in this city.

Funeral services Saturday morning at 8:30 from the residence of M. J. Clear, 907 Washington boulevard west, and at 9 o'clock from the Church of the Precious Blood.

CORNEILLE.

Mrs. Rosella Corneille, wife of John B. Corneille, residing at 209 East Superior street, died Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the age of 65 years. Death was due to heart trouble and was rather sudden, though Mrs. Corneille had been ill since Sunday.

She was born in France and had lived in Fort Wayne fifty years. Surviving relatives include the husband and seven children: Charles Corneille, of Pontiac, Ill.; Mrs. Mary Chanave, Fort Wayne; Mrs. William Bohley, Pontiac, Ill.; Mrs. Gustave Lindemann, Mrs. Edward Graffe, Mrs. Alphonse Pape and Mrs. Charles Dodane, of Fort Wayne. There are two sisters and a brother.

Mrs. Corneille was a devoted member of the Cathedral congregation and of the Rosary society of that church. The remains were removed to the home of a daughter, Mrs. Gustave Lindemann, 1128 Summit street.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Brown.—Funeral services for Edward H. Brown will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, 1626 Richardson street, and at 2:30 from Bethany Presbyterian church.

Richard.—Funeral services for Dorothy L. Richard will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, 1651 Wells street, and at 2:30 o'clock from the Church of the Precious Blood.

Sarrazin.—Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Sarrazin will be held Friday morning at 8:30 o'clock from the residence of Mrs. A. Lazzarini, 625 Barr street, and at 9 o'clock from the Cathedral.

MISS GOULD SOON TO WED.

License Issued for Her Marriage to Lord Decies.

New York, Jan. 26.—A license for the marriage of Lord Decies and Helen Vivian Gould was issued to the couple today by City Clerk Scully. The date of the wedding was not given, but it is generally understood to be February 7.

Miss Gould gave her age as eighteen years, said she was the daughter of George J. Gould and Edith Kingdon Gould and resided at 857 Fifth avenue. The bridegroom to be described himself as John De La Poer Beresford, Lord Decies, an army officer, born in Dublin, 44 years ago, of Sefton park, England.

PAINTINGS ARE HANDSOME

Notable Decorations for Lodge Room at Masonic Temple.

Seven very handsome paintings by Gustav Brand, of Chicago, have just been mounted in panels upon the walls of the room in the Masonic Temple used for the meeting of the four blue lodges of the city. The canvases are large and the work is exquisitely wrought. The subjects typified are "Faith," "Hope," "Charity," "Temperance," "Fortitude," "Prudence" and "Justice." The Masonic Temple association has just expended about $2,500 in the beautification of rooms upon two floors of the building.

NOT KILLED BY A MOB.

West Point, Miss., Jan. 26.—J. W. Valentine, a wealthy planter was the victim of over-exertion, resulting from flight from a posse and was not killed by the mob according to a verdict in the circuit court here today. Four men had been sent to arrest Valentine on minor charges about five months ago. On the way to jail Valentine opened fire on his captors and escaped.

C. Delzeich, of Chickasaw, O., enlisted in the field artillery at the local recruiting station this morning.

BURNS WILL NOT GET INTO COURT

Says Boys Represented They Were More Than Twenty-One.

YOUNG BOUND OVER

There will be no affidavit filed against Frank Burns for selling liquor to minors as he protests that "Butch" Stolder, who bought whisky of him represented that he was more than twenty-one and that he had been in there before with an elderly man who said he was the lad's father and who had said he was of age.

Stolder and Rush Harris, who was with him, both declined to file affidavits and Chief Elliott and Deputy Prosecutor Hilgemann decided that no good case could be made. Harris was discharged on his promise to quit drinking. There will be no prosecution of a drug firm that was involved for the reason that the boys do not know who sold them the liquor.

Young Bound Over.

George H. Young, agent for the National Casualty company, was bound over until Saturday morning on a charge of embezzlement. He is accused in an affidavit filed by Eben R. Ayers with having embezzled $73.50 of the money belonging to the company. Mr. Ayers alleges, however, that this will not cover Young's entire shortage which covers a period of several months.

The Other Cases.

William "Jim" Jacobs was fined $5 and costs for drunkenness and Edward Kelly and Frank Smith got the same amount for the same offense.

INSPECTOR SHIES AT LOADED SAFE

Strong Box in Postoffice at Geneva Dangerous Proposition.

NITRO DRIPPING OUT

Respectfully declining to tamper with a safe from which nitroglycerine placed there by robbers is still dripping, Postoffice Inspector J. N. Hunter, of this city, returned this afternoon from Geneva, where he made an investigation of the attempt to loot the postoffice early Wednesday morning.

The robbers were apparently frightened away by the night marshal of the town before they had accomplished their purpose, and Inspector Hunter does not believe they got into the safe. This, however, cannot be known to a certainty until the safe is opened. The combination knob had been knocked from the strong box and evidently a heavy charge of nitroglycerine had been applied and not exploded, for the explosive is still dripping from beneath the door of the safe.

The slightest concussion would probably explode it and spread disaster, and Mr. Hunter declined to continue the investigation far enough to attempt to open the safe. He advised the postmaster to secure an expert from the safe factory to tackle the proposition. But a few months ago a similar attempt was made at the postoffice at Kimmell, Noble county. The door was removed from the safe and sent to the factory at Chicago to be repaired. When a workman there tapped it with a hammer the nitro-glycerine remaining in the lock mechanism exploded with frightful force, hurling the safe door across the room and killing the workman instantly.

ELKS GO TO LIMA.

Fort Wayne Brethren Attending Dedication of Temple.

Fifteen members of the Fort Wayne lodge of Elks left at 2 o'clock this afternoon for Lima, Ohio, to attend the dedication of the handsome Elks' temple which has just been erected in that city at a cost of about $100,000. The event will close with an elaborate banquet.

Argentine had on December 31, 1909, 2,220,500 foreign-born inhabitants, the Italians leading with 1,639,022, followed by 664,602 Spaniards. In order as named, the other nationalities were: French, Russians, Syrians, Austrians, English, Brazilians, Germans, Swiss, Portuguese, Hungarians, Belgians and Americans.

HOW HAPPY THE WORD 'CUTICURA' SOUNDS TO ME

For It Cured My Baby of Itching, Torturing Eczema. First Came when Between 3 and 4 Weeks Old. Used Everything Imaginable. 2 Cakes Soap and One Box Ointment Cured.

"I can't tell in words how happy the word 'Cuticura' sounds to me, for it cured my baby of itching, torturing eczema. It first came when she was between three and four weeks old, appearing on her head. I used everything imaginable and had one doctor's bill after another but nothing cured it. Then the eczema broke out so badly behind her ear that I really thought her ear would come off. For months I doctored it but to no avail. Then it began at her nose and her eyes were nothing but sores. I had to keep her in a dark room for two weeks. The doctor did no good, so I stopped him coming.

"For about two weeks I had used Cuticura Soap for her every day, then I got a box of Cuticura Ointment and began to use that. In a week there was a marked improvement. In all I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and my baby was cured of the sores. This was last November; now her hair is growing out nicely and she has not a scar on her. I can not praise Cuticura enough. I can take my child anywhere and people are amazed to see her without a sore. From the time she was four weeks old until she was three years, she was never without the terrible eruption but now, thanks to Cuticura, I have a well child. Mrs. H. E. Householder, 2064 Wilhelm St., Baltimore, Md., May 10, 1910."

BOARD WILL NOT CONFIRM A ROLL

Members Had About Concluded to Reject Wildwood Paving.

THE MUNICIPAL NEWS

At the meeting of the board of public works tonight the members will reject the Wildwood avenue pavement if the plans agreed upon during the day are carried out. This matter has been under advisement for some time, but there is apparently little hope of arriving at a settlement.

The work was put in by John H. Brooks and there is some objection to its acceptance. The property owners wanted the board to accept the work and allow the contractor to leave $1,000 of the improvement bonds with the city in addition to the regular guarantee bond.

This plan did not appeal to the board and some of the interested owners and it was decided to refuse to confirm the assessment roll, which practically rejects the work.

Another Meeting Arranged.

Efforts were made today to arrange a meeting either this afternoon or tomorrow with the Pennsylvania officials to settle the long dispute about the street vacation and future track elevation work. A number of small points of difference have retarded a settlement, but the company wants it disposed of so it can go ahead with its plans.

NO RESULT AT ALBANY.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 26.—Today's joint ballot of the legislature for United States senator, which resulted in no choice, gave no indications of a break in the deadlock. Supporters of the democratic caucus nominee, William F. Sheehan, are unyielding and the insurgents are just as stubborn. There is no definite talk today of a compromise candidate.

MYSTERY OF A WOMAN SOLVED

MRS. EDNA HENRY.

New York, Jan. 26.—Part of the mystery surrounding Mrs. Edna Mann, or Mrs. Edna Henry, who has been in the Queens county jail awaiting the action of the grand jury since the day before Christmas on a charge of stealing a horse, was lightened Saturday by the discovery of a bundle of pawn tickets. There were hundreds of the tickets, representing almost every conceivable household article of value, and after tracing the origin of the articles the police believe the woman and the young man arrested with her, Sidney Denning, of No. 5,106 Fifth avenue, Brooklyn can explain scores of burglaries which have occurred in New York city and suburban districts during the last three years.

During the last season shipments of California grapes reached Porto Rico so quickly that the interest formerly displayed in Spanish grapes was reduced. Pears, peaches, plums and cherries were also promptly sent and delivered.

OLD LAWS CRUSH MERCHANT MARINE

MADE FOR OLDER DAY

Washington, Jan. 26.—Opposing the ocean mail bounty bill, Senator Shively, of Indiana, took the position in the senate today that the supremacy of American shipping was incapable of restoration by subsidy or bounty. He advanced the opinion that the only means of accomplishing that end was through the repeal of the shipping laws, the abolition of "medieval ordinances known as our navigation code."

It was asserted that a vast majority of these laws had been imported bodily from the British code. Explaining the adoption of these laws a hundred years ago, the Indiana senator said:

For Benefit of New England.

"New England was pursuing navigation and desired legislation that should enable her to engross the deep sea and coastwise trade of the young republic. Besides, she long had been and then was profitably employed in importing molasses from the West Indies, distilling it into rum, trading the rum for darkies on the coast of Africa and selling them as slaves in southern ports. The situation in the convention became ripe for negotiations, compromise and bargain. Molasses, rum, shipbuilding, the slave trade, and slavery coalesced and the finished products of the coalition were the extension of the slave trade for twenty years and the wide open door for the future navigation code."

Finding especial fault with the denial of American registry to foreign built ships though owned by American citizens, Mr. Shively said that in 1849 Great Britain had repealed the code that we had copied whereas we retained it with the result that the American merchant marine was destroyed.

What England Did.

"England," he said, "recognized the interests of her merchant marine as paramount, reinforced it with tools from the shipyards of the United States, saved her merchant marine and with it her shipbuilding industry. We made the shipbuilding interest paramount, sacrificed our merchant marine to it and our shipbuilding for the ocean trade disappeared with it."

Referring again to the ancient origin of the code and saying that the United States alone of all nations retains it, Mr. Shively said:

"Since then molasses and rum have lost their significance. The slave trade has gone. Slavery itself has passed away. Advancement has been made in the physical sciences and mechanical arts. Everywhere mankind are harnessing the forces of nature into their service. Steam and electricity are excluding time and space from human calculations and bringing widely separated people face to face. Vast common interests are making for peace, order and progress. Feudal systems are yielding to the needs of modern society. Old codes are being adjusted to new conditions. Change and improvement mark all other departments of human activity. Through all and in spite of all, the barbarisms of our navigation laws remain memorials to stone blind avarice and stupid folly—the deadly blight on our merchant marine."

The senator denounced these laws as an artificial obstruction in the way of the American merchant marine and declared that little could be done for its rehabilitation so long as they were on the books. As going to show that the condition of American shipping would not be improved by a subsidy, Mr. Shively said that while under the law of 1891 the United States has been paying 165 per cent more for carrying the mails in America than foreign vessels, the discrimination had been of no avail.

"For the fiscal year ended June 30, 1870," he said, "the proportion of our foreign commerce carried in American bottoms was 33 3-5 per cent. For the fiscal year ended June 30, 1910 this proportion had fallen to 8 7-10 per cent. Whatever occasional slight reaction appears, the general course has been persistently and swiftly downward. Nor is there persuasive evidence that these disbursements from the federal treasury over and above the open market price have even retarded the decline. The evidence is far more convincing than this persistent reliance on a false remedy, based on a false diagnosis, to the exclusion of the true one, has hastened the disease."

DOING FINE.

"Oh, how did Maud get along with her shopping?"

"All right, I guess. When I saw her she had just eighty cents left."

Baccarat, France, has the honor of producing the first glass that is unbreakable. The new process has been successfully applied to the manufacture of lamp chimneys for use in coal mines containing much fire damp. The glassmakers of Baccarat have also succeeded in increasing the elasticity of the glass. This they accomplish by adding magnesia and oxide to the ordinary crystal glass.—Success.

WIFE AFRAID OF HUBBY'S TEMPER

Shot Holes in the Ceiling and Abused Her As He Did It.

NEWS OF THE COURTS

Ora Corlett says she is afraid of Byron E. Corlett because he has a habit of shooting holes in the ceiling of their home with a revolver when he is angry and she fears he may turn his weapon on her. For this she has sued for a divorce.

She alleges that in their short married life which began last June he has failed to provide for her, has called her bad names and is given to fits of temper in which he uses language so vile that she is ashamed to put it in her divorce complaint. Colerick & Hogan filed the suit.

Children Out of School.

Odie Ross charges in a divorce complaint against Samuel Ross that he has spent most of his earnings for the last nine months for liquor and that their three children have been compelled to remain out of school because he did not buy them sufficient clothing to permit them to attend.

She says he is an habitual drunkard, that he calls her vile names and she can't live with him any longer. McAdams & Hartzell filed the suit.

Was Some Joke.

"Right smart of a joke about that wedding," said Justice John Johns, of Whitley county, as he filed his return on the license under which he had made Philip Long, 75, and Martha K. Riemer, 15, man and wife. The 'squire didn't explain just what the joke is.

jected to the assessment. The bill was up for second reading. Adjournment was taken in the midst of the debate, in which Mr. Clore said the proposed law would be no more expensive than the present one.

The Hauck senate bill providing for the filing of the bonds of cashiers and presidents of all state banks with the auditor of the state rather than with the secretary of state is getting along without opposition and is now ready for third reading in the house.

The Powers senate bill to protect fur bearing animals also is ready for third reading and passage in the house, as is the Stotzenburg joint resolution ratifying the proposed sixteenth amendment to the United States constitution so as to provide for an income tax.

Get News of Gift.

Governor Marshall today sent both to the senate and the house a special message announcing a gift of $200,000 by Dr. and Mrs. Robert W. Long, of Indianapolis, to Indiana university for the establishment of a hospital in connection with the medical school. The message was received with hand-clapping in the house. Governor Marshall recommended that the legislature give a vote of thanks to the donors, and that suitable resolutions be drafted. The governor further recommended that the hospital be constructed if possible on land in Indianapolis owned by the state.

Women On School Board.

In the senate the committee on education reported favorably upon the Stotzenburg bill providing for the increase of town and city school boards to be composed of five persons, for the purpose of allowing them to include two members who shall be women. The bill is looked upon as a radical change from former conditions and taken in connection with the proposal to grant school suffrage to women will receive much attention at the hands of the senate.

Increases in the salaries of the clerks, sheriffs and recorders of Lake, Vigo and Madison counties is provided in a bill by Senator Frank N. Gavit, of Whiting, which was favorably reported in the senate today. Bills that successfully passed second reading in the senate today were the Woods bill exempting from taxation trust funds for the maintenance of cemetery lots and all gifts to voluntary cemetery associations; the Curtis bill permitting the jury to fix the sentence in manslaughter cases instead of the judge, as is now the case; the Halleck amendment to the Beardsley law; the McCarty school inspection bill; the Netterville bill providing for the recovery of money unlawfully collected by action in garnishment, taken outside the state; the Greenwell farm name registration bill and the Yarling bill amending the accountings law so that an official may have an opportunity to be heard on an alleged shortage in his accounts before the publication of the report of an examiner and providing further that in case the explanation is satisfactory the report shall remain secret.

BIG GUNS WON'T GO OFF.

Neither Beveridge Nor Fairbanks Can Be at Banquet

Indianapolis, Jan. 26.—Absence of speakers on the program for the Indiana Republican Editorial association's banquet tonight has caused a complete rearrangement of the toast list and republican members of the legislature will "fill in." Senator Beveridge was detained in New York by the death of David Graham Phillips, and former Vice President Fairbanks had to refuse his invitation because of business. The business meeting of the association will be held tomorrow.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

SHOT IN RIGHT EYE BY HIS BROTHER

Were Playing Indian and Older Lad Shot Arrow at His Younger Brother.

Huntington, Ind., Jan. 26.—While playing Indian and engaged in a mimic warfare with bow and arrow, Morton Ellis, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ellis, of Rock Creek township, was shot in the right eye by his older brother, Walter Ellis, age eight, at their home, seven miles south of Huntington. The injured lad was hurried to this city and an operation was performed at the local hospital in efforts to save the sight.

Despite warnings by the mother, the two Ellis lads persisted in their dangerous play. With the words scarcely out of the mother's mouth, "Don't shoot at Morton," young Walter twanged the small bow string and a pointed arrow darted on its mission of injury toward the smaller brother. An instant later the latter uttered a shrill cry of pain. The pointed shaft had struck him square in the right eye.

Turning, the mother saw her youngest son throw his hand to his eye and reel. The lad retained his senses, however, and immediately showed remarkable nerve. In the hemorrhage that followed through the punctured eye-ball, a part of the iris leaked out. Mrs. Ellis placed a tight bandage over the eye and a hurried drive to the city was begun. A local specialist was consulted and an immediate operation was deemed imperative to stop the hemorrhage and extend the hopes of saving the eye ball and possibly the sight.

Fortunately the point of the arrow struck to one side of the pupil of the eye, and there was only a small excretion owing to the prompt attention given.

MARRIED AT DECATUR.

Decatur, Ind., Jan. 26.—A pretty wedding took place yesterday at the St. Mary's church, when Miss Margaret Miller plighted her vows to Mr. Anthony Kohne, both parties residing in this city. Many friends of the contracting parties were in attendance, and the ceremony was solemnized by Father Wilken, the beautiful ring ceremony being used.

BEN HURS WILL MEET.

Kendallville, Ind., Jan. 26.—P. L. G. Axel, scribe of the local Ben Hurs, has received notice from Dr. Charles H. Stewart, Auburn, that the next meeting of the Ben Hur Traction League will be held at Auburn Tuesday, February 2 and a fine class of candidates will be ready for initiation.

GIVEN A WELCOME IN FORMER HOME

Rev. J. K. Cecil, of This City, Preached to His Old Congregation at Bluffton.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 26.—Rev. J. K. Cecil, now of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Fort Wayne, and former pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, of this city, made his first return appearance in the city Tuesday night after his transfer. He had been here for funerals, but not since he was transferred to the Fort Wayne pastorate had he been here at a time when the people could all have a chance to hear him. He must have been greatly pleased with the way in which he was received. The spacious auditorium was well filled and the first night of the meetings was inspiring.

Nor was there any disappointment in the sermon. The theme of Rev. Cecil was: "The Challenge of the Cross," and the discourse was a helpful one. At the conclusion of the service the large congregation, at the request of the pastor, tarried and an informal reception for the former pastor followed. In the audience were eighteen out of the twenty-four 32nd degree Masons in Bluffton, and they went to the church in a body. Rev. Cecil himself is a 32nd degree Mason.

SALOONS IN WHITLEY.

Can Have Saloons in March if County Option Is Repealed.

Columbia City, Ind., Jan. 26.—In case the Proctor-Keeney bill passes the house as it passed the senate it will open the way for the re-establishment of saloons in this city in March. It will be two years on the 5th day of March since the county option election was held. This will be on Sunday and the next day the county commissioners will be in session so that applicants for license can no doubt get action on their applications on the first day of the term.

BOUGHT $7,000 FARM.

Columbia City, Ind., Jan. 26.—The eighty-acre farm of Charles A. Blew, in Cleveland township, was sold Wednesday to Conrad J. J. Lauer, of Washington township, for $7,000. Mr. and Mrs. Blew will return to Boon county after March 1, when they will give possession, to look after their interests in that county. The new owner of the farm bought it as an investment, and may have one of his sons locate on the place.

FIRE DESTROYED HOME.

Hartford City, Ind., Jan. 26.—Fire, starting either from an overheated kitchen stove or a defective flue, totally destroyed the story and a half residence occupied by Antoine Pierre yesterday. The property was owned by Charles Phillips, of Maumee, O., and it is not known whether it was insured. Pierre carried protection of $400 on the household goods which were consumed.

WILL RESIGN SUNDAY.

Columbia City, Ind., Jan. 26.—Rev. J. F. Porterfield, who has been pastor of the Baptist church for a year, will tender his resignation next Sunday morning to his congregation, and on the following Sunday, February 5, will preach his farewell sermon. He was recently appointed as deputy prosecutor of this county, and admitted to the practice of law.

DR. VICHERT AT BLUFFTON.

Bluffton, Ind., January 26.—Baptists are looking forward to a rare treat on Friday evening, when Rev. J. F. Vichert, of Fort Wayne, president of the Indiana Baptist convention, will be present and preach. Every man who heard Dr. Vichert at the Baptist Brotherhood banquet December 1st, will surely be glad to hear him again.

ESCAPED WITH HIS LIFE.

"Twenty-one years ago I faced an awful death," writes H. B. Martin, Port Harrison, S. C. "Doctors said I had consumption and the dreadful cough I had looked like it, sure enough. I tried everything I could hear of for my cough, and was under the treatment of the best doctor in Georgetown, S. C., for a year, but could get no relief. A friend advised me to try Dr. King's New Discovery. I did so, and was completely cured. I feel that I owe my life to this great throat and lung cure." MEALS AT A BANQUET.

"There is a good deal of hypocrisy about this talk of the uselessness of wealth," said Mayor Meals at a banquet in Harrisburg.

"I remember once, in my youth, an aged millionaire said to me:

"'Riches, my dear Meals, don't bring happiness.'

"'Maybe not, sir,' said I, with a sarcastic laugh; 'but all the same it must be mighty pleasant to have a barrel of money and be able to talk like that to some young fellow without a cent.'"

Indictments at Decatur Against Men for Larceny.

Decatur, Jan. 26.—The grand jury returned indictments against Gert Reynolds, a well known resident of this city, and John Jones, true name unknown. They are charged with conspiracy to commit grand larceny of $700 from Fred Koenig, who alleges they took him to Fort Wayne and Toledo, where under promise to sell him a large amount of money, "that couldn't be detected from the real thing," they shook him down for the amount stated. Reynolds was arrested and released on $500 bond. The John Jones is said to reside in Ohio.

ARRESTED FOR FORGERY.

Decatur Man Must Face Five Indictments Against Him.

Decatur, Ind., Jan. 26.—Clarence Stevens, a young man who had five indictments returned against him by the grand jury, was arrested yesterday by the sheriff. The indictments are for five notes given under dates of February 2nd and 28th and March 1st, 8th and 14th, each signed Henry Stevens, Clarence Stevens and M. E. Hower, the amounts being $25, $20, $25.35, $25 and $30. All were cashed at the Old Adams County bank. His bond was fixed at $500 on each indictment.

AN ALBION DEATH.

Albion, Ind., Jan. 26.—Raleigh Pollick, a well known young man of Albion, died at his home in this city yesterday after an illness of nine months, aged 23 years. Death was due to cancer. He is survived by a wife and a daughter. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

CITY CIVIL ENGINEER.

Kendallville, Ind., Jan. 26.—Fred L. Kuebler, who has been acting as deputy city civil engineer of this city for the past nine months, was appointed city civil engineer at the council session by Mayor Forrest E. Field, succeeding Willis E. Sawyer.

WILL PAVE STREET.

Kendallville, Ind., Jan. 26.—At the adjourned session of the city council Tuesday evening that body passed favorably upon the paving of North Main street and the improvement is to be made this year.

The Adventures of Mr. Peter Ruff

BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Delilah from Streatham

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY THE PEARSON PUBLISHING CO.

"It was Mr. Spencer Fitzgerald," he said, "a clerk in Howell & Wilson's book-shop, who leapt out of the window of Daisy Villa two years ago. It may be Mr. James Fitzgerald now. Gentlemen of your profession have a knack of changing their names."

"My profession's as good as yours, anyway!" the little man exclaimed. "We aren't all fools in it! My friend Mr. Peter Ruff said to me that there was a young lady whom I used to know who was anxious to meet me again, and would I step round here about eight o'clock. Here I am, and all I can say is, if that's the young lady, I never saw her before in my life."

There was a moment's breathless silence. Then the door was softly opened. Violet Brown went staggering back like a woman who sees a ghost. She bit her lips till the blood came. It was Peter Ruff who stood looking in upon them—Peter Ruff carefully dressed in evening clothes, his silk hat at exactly the correct angle, his coat and white kid gloves upon his arm.

"Dear me," he said, "you don't seem to be getting on very well! Mr. Dory," he added, with a note of surprise in his tone, "this is indeed an unexpected pleasure!"

The man who stood by the desk turned to him. The others were stricken dumb.

"Look here," he said, "there's some mistake. You told me to come here at eight o'clock to meet a young lady whom I used to know. Well, I never saw her before in my life," he added, pointing to Maud. "There's a man there who wants to arrest me—Lord knows what for! And here's Miss Brown, whom I have seen at the theater several times, but who never condescended to speak to me before, telling me not to shoot! What's it all about, Ruff? Is it a practical joke?"

"Is it possible," he said, "that I have made a mistake? Isn't your second name Spencer?"

The man shook his head.

"My name is James Fitzgerald," he said. "I haven't missed a day at the Shaftesbury Theater for three years, as you can find out by going round the corner. I never called myself Spencer, I was never in a book-shop, and I never saw that lady before in my life."

Maud came out from her place against the wall, and leaned eagerly forward. John Dory turned his head slowly towards his wife. A sickening fear had risen in his heart—gripped him by the throat. Fooled once more, and by Peter Ruff!

"It isn't Spencer!" Maud said huskily. "Mr. Ruff," she added, turning to him, "you know very well that this is not the Mr. Spencer Fitzgerald whom you promised to bring here tonight—Mr. Spencer Fitzgerald to whom I was once engaged."

Peter Ruff pointed to the figure of her husband.

"Madam," he said, "my invitation did not include your husband."

John Dory took a step forward, and laid his hands upon the shoulders of the man who called himself Mr. James Fitzgerald. He looked into his face long and carefully. Then he turned away, and, gripping his wife by the arm, he passed out of the room. The door slammed behind him. The sound of heavy footsteps were heard descending to the floor below.

Violet Brown crossed the room to where Peter Ruff was still sitting with a queer look upon his face, and, gripping him by the shoulders, shook him.

"How dare you!" she exclaimed. "How dare you! Do you know that I have nearly cried my eyes out?"

Peter Ruff came back from the world into which, for the moment, his thoughts had taken him.

"Violet," he said, "you have known me for some years. You have been my secretary for some months. If you choose still to take me for a fool, I cannot help it."

"But," she exclaimed, pointing to Mr. James Fitzgerald——

Peter Ruff nodded.

"I have been practising on him for some time," he said, with an air of self-satisfaction. "A thin, mobile face, you see, and plenty of experience in the art of making up. It is astonishing what one can do if one tries."

Mr. James Fitzgerald picked up his hat and coat.

"I was worth more than five quid," he growled; "when I saw the handcuffs in that fellow's hand, I felt a cold shiver go down my spine."

Peter Ruff counted out two banknotes and passed them to his confederate.

"You have earned the money," he said. "Go and spend it. Perhaps, Violet," he added, turning towards her, "I have been a little inconsiderate. Come and have dinner with me, and forget it."

She drew a little sigh.

"You are sure," she murmured, "that you wouldn't rather take Maud?"

In his valedictory to the miners' convention President Lewis, who has been defeated for re-election, said: "I am going back to the mines to work and I won't sell to any organization of coal operators the information which I have received as president of the mine workers, at a fixed salary per month to deprive the mine workers of the wages and conditions of employment to which they are entitled." That is an unmistakable reference to John Mitchell, the predecessor of Lewis, and because it is, it sounds like a wanton slander. Mr. Mitchell is now connected with the National Civic Federation and is rendering high service to the country and especially to wage earners. His conduct as president of the miners' organization stamped him as a man of great capacities and deep sincerity. The miners idolized him and to a man they know that John Mitchell was their friend, their best advisor and their brother and that his services to them can neither be estimated nor repaid. It should be noted that the union has just ornamented Lewis with the tin badge of its disapprobation. His attack on John Mitchell is not exactly a swan song, but it answers in some ways as well.

President Taft is said to have been made to see that selection of San Francisco as the seat of the Panama exposition would mean much more to the republican party than New Orleans, and that he is about ready to cast in his lot with the Pacific coast. It would certainly help him some to hold the coast states where insurgency is rife and rampant and where choice of the southern city for exposition honors would stir resentment that might long be cherished. The president has nothing to hope for from the south, though southern delegates would make, if they felt like it, a rather formidable center to an anti-Taft convention crowd. With the presidential influence on the side of San Francisco's claims the subcommittee's report will be very likely to take reverse english when it gets to the house.

The grand jury probe is going to be sunk into the putrescent conditions of Vermillion county, Ill., and mighty good work it will be, too; but that is no reason why there should be frequent allusion to Uncle Joe Cannon as the One Big Thing in Vermillion county politics.

West Virginia has a well defined case of legislative corruption in connection with a senatorial election framed into charges by a member. There may be nothing to it; let it be hoped so. Senate of the United States is still busy with Mr. Lorimer and the way he got in and should not at this time be disturbed with another case of the sort. If Mr. Lorimer gets by the West Virginian may be allowed to pass on without question to his seat among the statesmen.

People of Pennsylvania appear to be a deal better able to stand the awful graft that went hand in hand with the building of their capitol than with the nude beauty of some of George Barnard's heroic statuary. Anyway, the naked beauties are to be covered with plaster drapery, whereas the graft job was never covered up at all.

There are multiplying reasons for it that the commission form wouldn't and couldn't be the worst in the world, even if it shouldn't pan out as much to the ton as its advocates claim for it.

Next thing, Mayor Grice should set about finding out why his administration didn't do its own housecleaning after it had got a good start at the job.

DEER AND EAGLE.

There is a belief widely diffused among men who see much of deer and deer forests in the Highlands that the eagles will follow on deer for a long way until they get one of them more or less by itself in a path on the side of a precipice and will then dash at it with the aim, often successful, of forcing it off the path to a fatal fall down the cliffside.

This is a common article of faith, but it does not seem possible to get any first eye evidence for the fact. This, however, the present writer has seen—three eagles "waiting on" over a hind and calf for several miles and until the whole cortege went right out of sight around the corner of the hill.

The calf appeared to be the real object of the eagles' attack, and may have been only fancy, but certainly it seemed to me as if there was a preconcerted or systematic method in the eagles' behavior, as if the bird or birds on the side of the hind further from the calf swooped at her with the idea of distracting her attention from it in order to give the one on the other side a chance to strike the calf; but the hind seemed almost as quick in her movements as the eagles themselves, now and then rearing upon her hind legs and striking at the birds with her forefeet whenever they swooped in front of her.

She would turn a moment to the bird on one side and then would be back again on the instant with her baby, which for its part appeared to realize the danger and did its best to keep close to the protection of its mother. So the running fight went on as long as my glass could show it and the end of it is conjectural; but it is obvious that if it is the habit of eagles thus to "wait on" the deer for a favorable moment for attack (and no doubt this is their occasional way) this would be quite good enough foundation for the theory that they wait deliberately till they have them on a steep cliffside in order to force and terrify them over and down it. That is the probable explanation, and it comes to about the same thing as the theory of the stalkers and gillies as far as the physical features of the affair go.—Westminster Gazette.

"IL TROVATORE."

The music lovers of Fort Wayne will be given an opportunity, Friday, January 27, 1911, of seeing the great production from Verdi's well known opera, "Il Trovatore," with special music, which has been arranged to fit scene for scene with this picture. This is a rare treat and something seldom seen in a moving picture theater. Below is given the caste and synopsis of the picture, which will be shown at the Colonial theater, Friday, January 27, 1911, afternoon and evening.

The Caste.

Leonora .....Francesca Bertini
Azucena .....Gemma Farina
Count Di Luna.....Achille Vitti
Manrico (The Troubador).....
.....Alberto Vestri

The story of Verdi's well known opera is generally known. Briefly, the old Count Di Luna gives his two young sons a locket. Manrico, still a youth, is carried off by the gypsy Azucena. Their father having died, Count Di Luna is a rival with Manrico for the affections of Leonora. After many sensational adventures Manrico is caught and placed in a dungeon by the Count. Leonora to free him promises to marry the Count, and then takes poison. The Count, finding Leonora is dead, orders Manrico to be executed. He then discovers from Azucena, who sees his locket, that Manrico, whom he has beheaded, is his long lost brother.

The music from Verdi's opera has been arranged to fit scene for scene with this picture. At the Colonial theater, Friday, January 27, 1911, afternoon and evening.

AS CHAMPION OF PUBLIC LIBRARY

Senator Fleming Urges Extension in Rural Districts.

MAY GET MORE FUNDS

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 26.—Senator S. B. Fleming, of Fort Wayne, came to the fore last evening, in a joint meeting of the senate finance committee and the house committee on ways and means, as the champion of the public library, and as a result of his arguments in favor of extending the free library movement into the rural districts, the committees voted to include the appropriation bill an increase of $3,000 in the appropriations recommended by the legislative visiting committee for the public library commission of 1913.

"I have been watching the development of that department," said Fleming, "and am convinced that it, next to the common schools, is the most powerful educational force in the state. The department has been running along for ten years on $7,000 a year, and I believe it is now high time that the state aid it in developing."

The visiting committee had recommended only the statutory appropriation of $7,000 a year. Jacob P. Dunn, president of the commission, asked that the committee allow the commission the additional $3,000 for the second year of the two-year period, if it could not make the addition for each year.

A RELIABLE COUGH MEDICINE

—o—

Is a valuable family friend. Foley's Honey and Tar fulfills this condition exactly. Mrs. Charles Kline, N. 8th St., Easton, Pa., states: "Several members of my family have been cured of bad coughs and colds by the use of Foley's Honey and Tar and I am never without a bottle in the house. It soothes and relieves the irritation in the throat and loosens up the cold. I have always found it a reliable cough cure and do not hesitate to recommend it highly." For la grippe coughs and stuffy colds, for children and grown persons and for delicate people use only Foley's Honey and Tar. Contains no opiates. Dreier Drug Co.

Freckle-Face

New Remedy That Removes Freckles or Costs Nothing.

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-Face, to try a new remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable dealer that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles, while if it does give you a clear complexion, the expense is trifling. Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength, from Meyer Bros. Co. and one night's treatment will show you how easy it is to rid yourself forever of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask Meyer Bros. Co. for the double strength othine as this is the only prescription sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles. —Meyer Bros. Co., Four Drug Stores.

LIVING STATUE PRACTICES MESMERIC CONTROL AS THRONGS PAUSE TO GAZE

Edgar Lee Field, Man With Queer Profession Now in Fort Wayne, Talks of His Experiences in Mystifying Public While Clad in Coat of Mail and Posing in Show Window—Hundreds Are Puzzled by Unique Performance.

"Is that a living human being or merely an automaton?"

The question was asked by a gentleman who, jingling two silver dollars in his hand and accompanied by two friends stepped into the Douglas shoe store and approached Manager W. M. Klinkel a day or two ago. He was assured that "it" was a living human being and the two silver dollars immediately changed hands.

The man was stake-holder for two friends who had taken opposite ends of the wager after they had stood for some minutes in front of the show window of the establishment and watched closely the work of Edward Lee Field, the man with a queer profession. Clad in armor of olden days, his face bronzed and limned by theatrical paint and carrying a stern expression that never changes, and with eyes that apparently never wink, Field has been posing for from two to three hours each afternoon this week in the window of the Douglas store. Mr. Field's home is at New Haven, Conn.

Simulates a Machine.

Field seeks to simulate the operations of a wonderful automaton, and so machine-like are the movements of his arms and so changeless is the expression of his face and the stare of his eyes that half the hundreds of people who pause to gaze at him daily move away convinced that it is really a machine and not a human being at all. The mechanical effect of the posing is further heightened by an electric cord that drops from the shield he carries as if to convey the impression that one is looking merely at a clever mechanical device operated by electricity.

But Field is very much alive, and while he is resting between his "turns" he is a very interesting individual with a flow of conversation that runs with the high-speed clutch on. "I cannot talk in the window," explains Mr. Field, "so you see I have to make up for lost time when I get out." The man has done his "stunt" for the past eight years in pretty nearly all the large cities of America, and he has a variety of characters which he assumes. The one used in Fort Wayne, however, is his favorite.

"No," he replied in answer to the question, "I was never an actor. The posing idea came to me one day in my own library when, after having made some repairs upon a coat of mail which I was using for decorative purposes I tried the armor on and chanced to glance into a mirror which was near me. Naturally, the work is difficult and tremendously straining, but I have been pretty successful and rather enjoy it."

Trying to Trick Him.

Mr. Field says that scarcely a day passes but that persons in the crowds gazing into the window where he is posing attempt to trick him into betraying himself by a sudden start, a wink of the eyes or a change in glance or expression, but they do not often catch him. They resort to various schemes—tossing objects up in the air close to the window, gesticulating wildly, and even making grimaces at him, hoping that in a momentary lapse the figure will by some movement or recognition betray the fact that the figure is human and thus settle the problem that is puzzling them.

It is Field's custom to take his place in the window, strike a posture and maintain it steadily for a space of from twenty to thirty minutes, during which time his body seems absolutely rigid, his face immobile, his eyes staring fixedly at a certain point. One arm after another will be moved at intervals in the jerky fashion peculiar to the mechanical figure, simulating closely even the wavy effect of arrested momentum as hand or arm is brought again to a standstill. But even with eyes fixed at a certain point, and they do not move, Field is able to see everything that is going on about him within a wide radius. And he is studying his crowd as closely as the crowd is studying him.

EDWARD LEE FIELD,
Living Statue Who Studies Crowds as Crowds Study Him.

Is It Mesmeric Control?

Mr. Field modestly disclaims either occult or mesmeric powers, but he has tried some interesting experiments while immovably facing the crowds that pass the window where he is at work and pause to gaze. "Sometimes," said Mr. Field, "I fix my mind upon the line between the flagstones in the sidewalk and mentally command the person or persons approaching not to cross what I call my 'dead-line.' I think it steadily and intently, throwing into it all the mental force at my command. 'Don't you cross it—you can't cross it—you dare not cross it—cross that line and you die,' are some of the thoughts that come driving through my mind. Purely as an experiment I try to compel those who pass to obey my will. Time and again I have seen them do it. I don't pretend to explain how it is done or by what name the power, if power it is, ought to be called. It serves as an interesting diversion, but through it all I never permit myself to forget the character I am assuming. Sometimes, of course, my work is better than at others—just as the man in any profession is at times able to do particularly good work. But I have been fairly successful, the work pays well and I enjoy it."

"Gee! I wish I had that statue to decorate my den," was the observation of a young man who had been watching Field intently and who moved off down the street but a few moments before the "statue" unceremoniously climbed out of the window to rest a bit as he chatted with The Sentinel.

AT THE MAJESTIC

"THE WOLF"

Opens 3 Days' Engagement at the Majestic This Evening.

"Eugene Walter's strong play of the Canadian woods, 'The Wolf,' delighted two large audiences at the Park theater yesterday," says the Indianapolis News of recent date. Judged from the standpoint of acting no better play has been seen at the Park this season. The cast is small, consisting of only seven persons, but every member of it is good.

The play has to do with a young girl born in the wilds and reared by a father, whose mind has become unbalanced brooding over the loss of his wife, who deserted him, leaving him with the baby girl. This child knows nothing of the world until William McDonald, an engineer with a party surveying for a railroad, comes into her life. She I saved from becoming this man's victim by Jules Baublen, a French Canadian, who takes her to Montreal in spite of McDonald and the girl's father.

The flight of Baublen with the girl provides the most thrilling incident of the play and furnishes an ending that is as exciting as it is unusual. The third and last act takes place on the bank of a river, where Baublen, the girl, Batiste Le Grand and George Huntley are to embark in a canoe for Montreal. Knowing that McDonald is following, Baublen sends the others ahead and waits for him. Darkness comes on and presently McDonald reaches the place and takes a shot at Baublen, but misses. Then follows a terrific hand-to-hand encounter. One of the men falls, but the audience can not tell which. The strain is relieved when Baublen strikes a match and looks into the face of the man he has killed. Then he walks to the water's edge, shouts for his companions and the play ends with the stage in darkness.

Of the individual work probably the best is that of E. Fernandez, who has the part of Baublen. His dialect is excellent and he makes the French Canadian a character that quickly takes a firm hold on the audience. He is ably supported by William Crimans as McDonald, who gets much out of a part that calls forth hisses. An excellent bit of character acting is that of Tom Burroughs as Andrew McTavish, the father. Mildred Hyland is the only woman in the cast, and she plays the part of Hilda satisfactorily. Roberto Deshon and J. Davis Pendleton have the other two parts, and measure up to requirements well.

The number of people killed yearly by wild beasts don't approach the vast number killed by disease germs. No life is safe from their attacks. They're in air, water, dust, even food. But grand protection is afforded by Electric Bitters, which destroy and expel these deadly disease germs from the system. That's why chills, fever and ague, all malarial and many blood diseases yield promptly to this wonderful blood purifier. Try them, and enjoy the glorious health and new strength they'll give you. Money back, if not satisfied. Only 50c at all druggists.

TEMPLE THEATRE

The Phays in Their Expose of Mind Reading Fakirs, the Biggest Hit of the Season.

The Phays at the Temple this week, in their expose of Anna Eva Fay, and all other mind reading fakirs, are packing the house at every performance. This evening they show up slate writing and table lifting and on Friday Mrs. Fay's cabinet tests will be duplicated and exposed. These stunts will be in addition to the Phays regular performance.

Miss Ethyndc Roberts, who portrays the Mrs. Fay part in the Phay act, is a stock actress of considerable experience. Edward C. Marshall, who handles the exposing end of the act, is a well known magician who recently returned from a tour of the Orient at the head of his own company. Louis Granat, who handles the pads in the audience, was recently seen in Fort Wayne in his whistling specialty. Mr. Granat has been associated with Prof. Baldwin, Mrs. Fay and other alleged mind readers and thoroughly understands the game. The expose must be seen to be appreciated.

Lillian Mortimer and Company Next Week.

Underlined for next week at the Temple theater is a playlet that deserves more than ordinary mention. The playlet is Lillian Mortimer's miniature melodrama, "The Arrival of Betty." Yes, it is a melodrama, but by that it is not meant the ten and twenty variety of the cheap melodramatic theater, but rather the melodrama of Hall Caine, David Balasco and Charles Klein. The success of these great playwrights lies in their power to depict real human nature. So it is in "The Arrival of Betty." This little sketch is replete with the human desires and emotions that go to make up real life. Therein lies its power to charm and captivate the auditor. In addition to the natural strength of the playlet must me mentioned the sterling worth of the player, Miss Mortimer. Truly a clever player and a worthy sketch. Miss Mortimer is a great local favorite, having appeared here many times.

As an extra added feature the management secured the Great Heras Family of acrobats, eight in number. This is the greatest troupe of acrobats in the world. The Temple management are certainly to be congratulated on securing such an excellent attraction.

Healthy Mothers

The bearing of children is frequently followed by poor health for the mother. This supreme crisis of life finding her physical system unprepared for the demands of nature, leaves her with weakened resistive powers and sometimes chronic ailments. This can be avoided if Mother's Friend is used before the coming of baby, and the healthy woman can remain a healthy mother. It is the only remedy that perfectly and thoroughly prepares the system for healthy motherhood, and brings about a natural and easy consummation of the term. Women who use Mother's Friend are always saved much suffering when the little one arrives, and recover more quickly, and with no ill effects, or chronic troubles. Every expectant mother should safeguard her health by using Mother's Friend, thus preparing her physical condition for the hour of motherhood. This medicine is for sale at drug stores. IN THE CHURCHES

350 VOICES IN GREAT CHORUS

"The Nativity of Christ" Rendered by German Lutheran Choirs.

GIVE THREE CONCERTS

The final rehearsal of the great chorus choir of the German Lutherans of this city, which is to give two concerts at Saengerbund hall on Tuesday and Wednesday nights of next week, will take place on Sunday afternoon and then all will be in readiness for this notable musical event, probably the most interesting of the kind ever given in the city.

It will be the rendition of the German oratorio, "The Nativity of Christ," by the distinguished composer, Henrich Barth, his masterpiece, and it will be given by a chorus choir of 350 voices, the best singers of the German Lutheran churches in the city and the students of the Concordia Lutheran college.

Probably 225 members of this great chorus choir are the Concordia students, ranging in age from 12 to 20, splendid alto, soprano and bass voices, whose training under the tutorship of Prof. Henry J. Feiertag, teacher in the Lutheran schools and organist at the St. Paul's church, has rendered them wonderfully proficient. They join in the general choruses and also have several distinctive choruses to give.

The rest of the big chorus is made up from the choirs of the five Lutheran churches, practically the choir of each congregation, all among the best singers in the city. The soloists are: Miss Benke, of the St. Paul's, soprano; Miss Hesemeyer, of the Emanuel's, alto; Mr. Hilgeman, of the Emanuel's, tenor, and Mr. Moebler, of the Emmaus, bass. The director and leader of the great chorus will be Prof. Feiertag, under whose skilful leadership the oratorio has been rehearsed and who has had all the arrangements in that respect. He is a great director and the rendition of the oratorio will prove it.

The orchestra participating is the Walther orchestra of the St. Paul's church, which is composed of thirty members, an organization that has been in existence for fifteen years. Prof. Henry Hahn, the organist at the Emmaus church, will be the accompanist in all the choruses and solos. There is no better in the city, being an accomplished musician.

The directors from the various church choirs besides Prof. Hahn are: Prof. Schroeder, of St. Paul's; Prof. Hormel, of Emanuel; Prof. Bernhoff, of Zion's, and Prof. Bohlmann, of Concordia. Prominent in the management of the concerts has been Rev. Martin Leucke, the director of the Concordia college, and the committee in active charge of the general arrangements is composed of Prof. Hahn, president, and Messrs. Leinker, Schneider, Sihler, Hitzeman, Freese, Walbaum and Wefel.

Besides the two concerts given Tuesday and Wednesday nights it is also intended to give a special production on Sunday afternoon, February 5. This is done for the convenience of people from other places and it is expected that many from neighboring towns and cities will be here that day to attend it.

THE PECTORAL CROSS

And Royal Purple Can Be Worn by Former Fort Wayne Priest.

From far-off Syria an honor has come to Rev. M. J. Byrne, formerly one of the Catholic clergy of Fort Wayne and well known here, now pastor of the St. Ann's Catholic church at Lafayette. He has been made a canon of the Greek Catholic church of that country. The appointment gives him the title of monsignor or abbot and the privilege of wearing the royal purple and the pectoral cross.

Last fall, after the eucharist congress at Montreal, which brought together Catholic prelates from all parts of the globe, Bishop Matatois Aggair, of Sidon, who attended the congress, came to this city to visit his sister, Mrs. George Habeeb. He met the Rev. Mr. Byrne and visited him for a time. Father Byrne showed the visitor every courtesy and a warm friendship sprung up between the two clergymen. The bishop celebrated mass several times at St. Ann's church.

Christmas day the archbishop of Sidon created Father Byrne a canon of the church. This places him on the plane with bishops and he expects to visit Syria this summer and receive his consecration. He is the third priest in the United States who has received this honorary title from the Greek Catholic church.

HOTEL CHEF WON PRIZE.

Furnished the Menu for Westminster Church Supper.

Several days ago the Westminster Presbyterian church offered a prize of $5 to the person who would furnish the best menu for the 25c church supper to be given at the church on Saturday evening of this week, from 5 to 8 o'clock. There were a number of competitors, but the prize was won by Emanuel Fugman, the assistant chef at the Anthony hotel. This was the menu he furnished and the one that will be served:

Celery. Olives.
Roast Suckling Pigs and Dressing.
Gravy and Apple Sauce.
Browned Sweet Potatoes.
Mashed Potatoes.
Baked Pork and Beans with Tomatoes.
Cabbage Salad.
Bread. Butter.
Plum Pudding.
Coffee.

A sample of the pig that is to be served is on exhibition in the show window of the Rurode Dry Goods store. The supper managers say they will have enough to feed 1,000 people.

BLACK HAND BOMB.

New York, Jan. 26.—A panic was created in the Italian quarter on the upper East Side today when a bomb was thrown into the basement of a store and residence building. The explosion wrecked the lower part of the building and shook the neighborhood. John Garliago, a grocer, who occupies the basement, admitted to the police that he had received several threatening letters from the blackhand.

PATTERSON-FLETCHER COMPANY

MAKES PLEA FOR FISH LAW CHANGE

Senator Powers, of Angola, Wants Open Season for Spear and Seine.

YARLING BILL IS LOST

Indianapolis, Jan. 26.—In his plea for the Yarling fish bill to permit an open season for the seining and spearing of fish, Senator Stephen A. Powers yesterday afternoon bitterly attacked the deputy fish commissioners who are charged with enforcing the law. "These men who don't dare face the fellows at night when they are engaged in violating the fish law," shouted Senator Powers, "enter our homes and confiscate family heirlooms in the shape of fishing spears and arrest our little boys for using nets in excess of the legal limitation.

"Why, gentlemen, there is not one-fifth the number of fish in the lakes of the state at the present time that there was twenty years ago. This is, I believe, brought about by the present fish law which prevents seining and spearing. The gar, dogfish and carp have been allowed to multiply and they destroy more small fry in a day than all of the fishermen combined.

"Give us a chance to spear fish and we will destroy the bad fish which are now eating up the small bass and sunfish and in a few years the lakes will again be restored as fishing grounds. Indiana has sheets of water that rival in beauty those of Switzerland, but the fish law has placed upon them restrictions which mean that the people cannot enjoy the advantages they offer.

"I don't know anything about netting, but when it comes to spearing I am ready for it any time. And my people are back of me. It even extends to the election for judge, for in my county a democratic judge was elected although there is a republican majority of twelve hundred, simply because the people understood that he was liberal on the fish law."

The speech of the senator from Steuben county was eloquent, it was earnest, but the opponents of the bill were too numerous and it was lost.

Big Biograph Special at the Fairy

At the Fairy today and tomorrow, 2,000 feet film; one story, "His Trust and His Trust Fulfilled." The faithful devotion and self-sacrifice of an old negro servant. In every southern home there was the old trusted body-servant, whose faithful devotion to his master and his master's family was extreme to the extent of even laying down his life if required. This Biograph subject portrays a story which in no way exaggerates the self-sacrificing love of the man for his master. The cruel war has just begun and when Colonial Frazier leaves home to join his regiment of confederate soldiers, he tells George, his body-servant, to take good care of the wife and child he is leaving behind.

See the burning of the house; the rescue of the child by the negro servant. Very interesting, must be seen to be appreciated.

RULES COMMITTEE ORDERED PROBED

House Wants to Know Why the Ballinger Report is Not Printed.

UNCLE JOE GETS MAD

Washington, Jan. 24.—Representative Hitchcock, of Nebraska, sprang a sensation in the house today by demanding an investigation of the "irregular proceedings," which has resulted in a delay of forty-nine days in getting the reports of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee printed and into the hands of members of the house.

An acrimonious debate followed in which Speaker Cannon took an active part, resenting what he termed an implied criticism of the chair.

The house, after listening to various explanations as to the probable cause of delay, voted almost unanimously in support of a resolution ordering an investigation by the committee on rules.

JUDGE TELLS IT TO JURY

Therefore the buyers are now immune for offenses more than eighteen months back, regardless of me; I do not make the law. Likewise, since conspiracy is to 'do an unlawful act,' there can be no conspiracy when there is no unlawful act.

"And now as to the eighteen months' period: That provision in the law clearly is class legislation and a violation of the fourteenth amendment of the federal constitution, which grants to all equal rights under the law."

Saw Jones Buying Votes.

H. M. Martin, butcher and father-in-law of R. H. Frankeberger, the newspaper man whose published story of what purported to be a "confession" of City Attorney Jones that he bought votes, opened the inquiry, appeared before the grand jury today. He said he was prepared to say he peered through a glass-panelled door into the rear room of his shop where City Attorney Jones had opened an "office" within two doors of the election booth, and saw Jones paying voters money. This is what Jones has denied.

The summons of Judge E. R. E. Kimbrough, Mayor Platt and half a score of the most prominent democrats in the city to appear before the grand jury and tell what they know of the stories that have floated about the county ever since the elections two years ago and less, that money was poured out openly on election days, was the cause.

Danville's Big Day.

Specifically, the one big event of Danville day was expected to be the appearance of Judge Kimbrough before Foreman Isaac Woodyard's inquisitorial body, one which he as circuit judge instituted.

The doughty foreman has said ever since he came up from his bank at Ridge farm, that he was going to hit right and left, regardless of whom he hit. Second in importance only to the judge's testimony is expected to be that of Mayor Platt and Earl Chambers, owner of a garage here. Judge Kimbrough was a strong supporter of Mr. Platt at the latter's election twenty-one months ago, and it is about the nature of that support Chambers is to testify.

Chambers is the chauffeur who yesterday said he was prepared to tell the grand jury that he drove the mayor and the judge in an automobile on several trips from the First National bank to various precincts of the city, carrying "more money than I ever saw" to the workers at the polls. He was driver of the famous machine, No. 2,117, which figured in the mayor's campaign.

Money in Heaps and Bales.

Several other witnesses are summoned to tell what truth there is to the stories they have told of having seen, when the famous 2,117 machine ran into an electric pole, a tarpaulin disarranged in the bottom of the tonneau, and beneath it a disorderly heap of gold and silver coins and paper money in small denominations scattered in alluring profusion on the floor. Frank Dalton, before whose house the accident to the automobile is said to have occurred, has not been subpoenaed.

NEW MANAGER HERE.

C. B. Wallace Succeeds Major C. D. Tillo at Newspaper Union.

C. B. Wallace has been named as manager of the Fort Wayne branch of the Western Newspaper Union, succeeding Major C. D. Tillo, who has been at the head of the house in Fort Wayne for twenty-six years, until recently under the ownership of the Chicago Newspaper Union. Mr. Wallace, who comes from Salt Lake City, Utah, arrived in Fort Wayne yesterday.

Major Tillo has a number of other propositions under consideration, but it is understood he will engage in business upon his own account.

SOCIETY

Miss Edna Heaton, of Indianapolis, was the guest today at a luncheon given by Miss Marguerite Niezer, of West Wayne street. The decorations were in pink and the guests found their places at the table by cards which were held in the beaks of tiny toy canary birds perched upon the drinking glasses. The table was laid in cluny lace doilies and there were covers for twelve. After the luncheon the young ladies enjoyed a game of bridge. Miss Heaton is the guest of Miss Josephine Dinnen.

Mrs. George Aitkens and children, of West DeWald street, have returned from a month's visit in Chicago.

Miss Bertha Heinrich, of Chicago, is expected in the city to spend the week-end with friends.

Mrs. J. D. Gumpper and Mrs. J. E. K. France are spending the day with friends in Bluffton.

Mrs. H. L. Askow is at Garrett for a brief visit with her mother, Mrs. Sophia Henry, and other relatives.

Miss Jessamine Sale is in Tryon, N. C., to spend a number of weeks for the benefit of her health.

Miss Helen May Irwin, of East Jefferson street, went to Ann Arbor, Mich., today for a short visit.

Mrs. John T. Ferguson, of Crescent avenue, has as her guest Mrs. R. O. Adams, of Delphos, O.

Mrs. Charles Hilker, of Francis street, celebrated her seventy-first anniversary on Monday by receiving friends who called during the afternoon and evening.

Mrs. E. R. Wood and son, Billy, of Chicago, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. William McLachlan, of Washington boulevard west, for two weeks.

Miss Alice Rice has returned from Chicago, where she accompanied her father, M. E. Rice, and has gone to Indianapolis for a few days' visit.

Miss Helen Schmidt, of 1813 Hillsdale avenue, will entertain the H. E. club members tomorrow evening at a business meeting.

Mrs. Joseph L. Bradfield, of Des Moines, Ia., who has been visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Buchman, for several weeks, left today for her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Horstman, of West DeWald street, celebrated their eighth wedding anniversary on Monday evening by giving a progressive pedro for a number of their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schaaf, of South Broadway, celebrated the eighth anniversary of their wedding on Saturday evening by entertaining a few friends.

Miss Clara Lepper entertained the G. G. club at her home last evening. Prizes were won by Miss Flora Luhmann and Miss Helen Hitzeman. Miss Alma Wolke will be the next hostess.

Mrs. Elwood Craig entertained the ladies of the Embroidery club to which she belongs this afternoon at her home, 375 West DeWald street. Mrs. Sullivan, of Cincinnati, formerly Miss Fannie Welch, of this city, sang during the afternoon.

Mrs. John Bailes entertained the Idle-a-while club yesterday afternoon at cards. Prize winners were Mrs. Hoch and Mrs. Jenkins. Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Olds, Mrs. Mungovan, Mrs. Ferguson, Mrs. Wells, Mrs. Fachtel, Mrs. Elnsel, Mrs. Zeentner and Miss Muldary were other guests.

Mrs. Catherine Schwier was given a surprise yesterday afternoon by her daughter, Mrs. Catherine McCausland, who invited five members of the Jolly Twelve club to an afternoon at cards in honor of her mother's natal anniversary. An elaborately served supper followed the card playing.

Miss Catherine Vesey will entertain over the week-end a number of young girls who formed a house party at Leland, Mich., during the summer. The guests of Miss Vesey will be Misses Agnes Mahurin, Margaret Raeder, Elsie Paul, Marie Landenberger and Marjorie Kilgore.

A birthday celebration of Tuesday evening was Mrs. Chris Borgman's, of Fulton street. Progressive pedro was the amusement and there were relatives and friends to assist in the good time. The prize was won by Miss Ricka Borgman. Other guests were

WASHABLE VOILE.

White cotton voile will be much used next summer for afternoon dresses, and some of these white voile costumes are trimmed with colors in effective fashion.

The frock pictured here is embroidered by hand with white mercerized floss and the bands of embroidery are blue and white.

Mesdames Horstmeyer, M. H. Miller, Frederick Fisher, Elizabeth Stubnatzy, and Misses Ricka and Mary Borgman, Frieda Stein, Louise Lehman and Emma Schutte.

Miss Edna Null, of New Haven, gave a pretty party on Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. Patsy Griffin, who was formerly Miss Edith Gertrude Havens, and who, because she spent her summers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hartzell, was well acquainted with the young people of that vicinity. The rooms were decorated with carnations, both red and white, and after playing progressive games and enjoying music, the hostess served a delicious luncheon. The guests gave Mrs. Griffin a shower of pretty and useful gifts in honor of her recent wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Griffin are now at home at 616 Poplar street.

The twelfth anniversary of their marriage was the occasion for Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Bosch celebrating in an unexpected but delightful manner. The anniversary day was on Wednesday and Rev. and Mrs. Bosch were at home quietly busy with their work when a friend called and told them they were wanted at the school hall. On arriving there they were greeted with congratulations from friends of the congregation of St. John's Reformed church and the members of the Ladies' society. An address was made by Rev. Ruf, of the orphans' home suitable for the occasion and Mrs. Katherine Marquardt, one of the oldest members of the congregation, also extended congratulations in a short speech. A table, beautifully decorated, had been spread with many good things and after the speech-making the company partook of a banquet. Rev. and Mrs. Bosch also received a number of gifts of use and beauty, some of them being from individuals and others from the society. But another surprise awaited this beloved pastor and his wife in the evening for another summons to the hall came to them and on their arrival they found all the young people gathered to give them greeting and kindly wishes. More gifts, a supper, music and telegrams from friends out of town were among the pleasant things that happened. Among the guests was Mrs. Bosch's mother, Mrs. F. R. Schwedes, of Terre Haute.

A Country Party.

At the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd McAfee was celebrated on Wednesday the birthday anniversary of Martin Spanley, who was sixty years old. A company of friends gathered at the McAfee home and took with them a number of useful and pretty gifts for Mr. Spanley. Progressive pedro formed an amusement which all enjoyed. Prizes were won by Mrs. Bernard Kline and Albert Fox for high scores and the consolations by Mrs. Edward Fox and John Schnurr. A fine supper was served later in the evening. The guests at this pleasant birthday party included Messrs. and Mesdames Bernard Kline, Edward Fox, George Connent, Henry Brown, John Schnurr, Frank Falls, Henry Rape, George Ruch, Robert Fox, Charles Gephart, John Gephart.

Kissinger—Landis.

Miss Mary Landis and Mr. Rollo Kissinger were married on Wednesday evening by Rev. W. A. Griest, at Simpson M. E. church. The ceremony was performed directly after prayer meeting and was witnessed by a few friends. The bride's parents live at the corner of Highland and Harrison streets and the wedding supper was served there.

TEA TABLE TIPS.

Marshmallow Biscuit.

"Did you say, my dear," asked the pretty hostess, with a smile, as she arranged the samovar to her liking, "that Ralph likes marshmallow biscuits? For if he does, I want to give you a recipe for them that I have found delicious when served with tea. I made such tasty biscuits by taking thin unsweetened biscuit and spreading lightly with butter. Then I set them in a baking pan. On the center of each biscuit I placed a marshmallow, dotted with a tiny bit of butter, and set all in a hot oven until the marshmallow was softened and slightly colored, then served them hot.

"You would also like nut squares with afternoon tea? To make them, beat three eggs well, add one and one-half cups of sugar, two cups of nut meats ground or chopped coarsely, and three-quarters cup of flour sifted, with one-half level teaspoonful of salt and two level teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Butter a shallow pan and spread the batter thinly, then bake in a quick oven, and when partly cool cut in squares or oblong strips.

"I like chocolate chips with tea. To prepare them, beat one-half cupful butter to a cream, add gradually a cupful granulated sugar and beat thoroughly. Have ready two eggs beaten without separating whites and yolks, add to the butter and sugar mixture, together with four tablespoonfuls melted cocoa, a teaspoonful vanilla and a cupful of sifted flour. Pour thin layers of this batter into narrow, well greased pans and bake in a quick oven. As soon as done brush lightly with slightly beaten egg and cut into strips."

MISS MAY BUCKLEY.

Charming Actress and Fine Company Present "The Little Damozel."

Two performances of "The Little Damozel," Henry W. Savage's new offering, were given to highly appreciative audiences at the Majestic theater yesterday. The company was the same that had been engaged after the London success to play in this country and came here direct from Chicago, after a most successful run in that city. The chief interest with playgoers of this city lay in the appearance of Miss May Buckley, who was a stranger to the majority of both audiences, so far as seeing her was concerned, but the charm of her personality and the beauty of her acting made a lasting impression. The entire company is one of the high order of excellence a Savage company is expected to be and Henry Vogel, seen here in support of Walker Whiteside and George Graham, Henry Wenman, Cyril Kneightly, Frank Lacy, Harry Fraser, Raphael Newman and Mary Corse were others of the company who lent distinction to their respective roles.

Just why "The Little Damozel" is called a comedy is a question. To be sure there are flashes now and then of humor, especially so in the first act, where the setting is the hand room of a cafe and where a Bohemian atmosphere abounds, exploited in the play as a place "where men and women come and go, live and laugh, or despond and die, without hypocritical comment or hypocritical obituaries." In this instance, there is a beautiful, unspoiled and good young woman, who plays the harp in the band of the cafe, and is protected and loved by all its members as well as by the habitues of the place. She is Julie, the little damozel, affectionately called that by her fellow workers. In this act, a man by name of Poole, who had already lost much of his self-respect, forfeits further claim to manhood by consenting to marry Julie for the sum of seventy-five thousand dollars. After the marriage Julie and her husband learn to love each other dearly and as she knows nothing of the money transaction and believes Poole had a fortune left him, it becomes easy to understand the blow to her when exposure comes. Miss Buckley fully appreciates in her acting the pain and anguish of a good woman's outraged heart, of her sense of honor, of her suffering to find as she supposes, that her husband has no real affection for her. It takes to the final moment of the play for anything suggesting happiness to come again to anyone of the characters. Meanwhile Julie and her friends of the band, and Poole and his friend and pal, who helps straighten things a little, have a sad time of it and the women of the audience, and possibly some of the men, furtively or openly wipe the tears from their eyes.

HINTS ABOUT LAUNDRY WORK.

Elizabeth Lee Tells How She Washes Flannels.

My own method is to dissolve some shredded soap (which comes in packets put up by a reliable house) in boiling water. This soap is, I believe, made from cottonseed oil and is guaranteed to be absolutely pure. When a jelly, the soap is added to warm water, not hot, but a temperature above lukewarm.

Then the flannels are laid in and allowed to soak for fifteen or twenty minutes, the washtub being covered. Next, hot water is added to make it the same temperature as at first and the flannels are squeezed through the hands and lifted up and down in the water until they are clean. There is no rubbing either by hand or on the board.

The rinsing water should be lukewarm and a tablespoonful of borax added will vastly improve the flannels, because it is both a whitener and a softener. Ammonia in my experience is apt to make flannels yellow.

Personally, I prefer flannels dried in the open air to a warm room. That is—flannel underwear. Small articles, such as gloves, small shawls or even a sweater, can be dried upon a radiator with good results.

I do not believe in flannels being hung out of doors in freezing weather, although there are some women who say that flannels are not harmed by frost.

Cotton clothes may be hung out in frosty weather, for they become whiter by freezing, but if there is a wind blowing such articles as sheets and tablecloths are apt to split along the edges and tear into ribbons.

The frosty night air will do no more harm than that during the day, and if clothes are tinged with yellow a night in the frost will whiten them.

If the water is hard then borax may be added to the soap suds for washing flannels.

"I do not approve of a lot of witnesses coming in and drawing a dollar apiece as witness fees, so I enter a plea of guilty to the charge of larceny," was the statement made by Carlos Santos when arraigned before Judge Lymer at the district court, says the Honolulu Bulletin.

Miss Dennis Martin and Miss Gladys Martin, twin sisters, of Eldorado Springs, Mo., have made the highest grade made in the University of Missouri in the last four years. They tied on an average grade of 97.8 and headed the list of five seniors to be elected to the Phi Beta Kappa. The girls are in their twentieth year and during the four years they have been students in the university they have invariably made the same grade, though they never study together and seldom receive each other's help.

Stewed Beef Heart.

After washing the heart well, cut it into small square pieces; put them into a saucepan with enough water to cover them. If any scum rises, skim it off. Now take out the meat, strain the liquor, put back the meat, add one sliced onion, two tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley, a head of celery, chopped fine, pepper, salt, paprika and two heaping tablespoonfuls of dripping or butter. Stew until the meat is very tender. Mix together one tablespoonful of browned flour with a little water, stir this into the pan, allow to boil up and serve.

Almond Ice Cream

One quart of cream, eight ounces of sugar, four ounces of shelled almonds, one teaspoonful of caramel, one tablespoonful of vanilla extract and four tablespoonfuls of sherry wine. Blanch and roast the almonds, then pound in a mortar to a smooth paste. Put half of the cream and the sugar on to boil; stir until the sugar is dissolved, then add the remaining pint of cream and the almonds; stand away to cool; when cold add the caramel, vanilla and sherry. Freeze and pack.

Do You Want Direct Election of Senators?

Most everybody does—except some senators. The legislatures of twenty-nine states have asked that senators be chosen by popular vote. Four times in the last sixteen years the House of Representatives by a two-thirds vote has suggested a constitutional revision for the same purpose. But some senators always block the deal. They say that the men who made the Constitution knew their business. They did. What they actually thought and said about direct election of senators is set forth in Pearson's Magazine now on sale. The same article shows why some senators really object to letting the people themselves choose their representatives. Read this article. It is full of information you ought to have. It shows what a change in the manner of electing United States senators means to you.

In the same magazine another article names and explains foods which you eat every day, and which injure your health. The real sources of "white slavery" about which you have heard so much is the subject of another article—an astonishing article—all true, and which shows that a great number of "white slaves" are created by some of our most respected citizens. How the public is being fooled by the Government about a Parcels Post is the subject of another article. The tale of the Apaches of New York and their cruel battles is told by Alfred Henry Lewis. The magazine includes three other articles of keen public interest, and

THE WINNERS IN SPELLING

Won in the Townships—County and District Contests to Be Held in City.

TWO GREAT EVENTS

The revival of correct spelling among the scholars of our district schools has taken a particularly strong hold in Indiana as it has in some of the other states, and this year, more than in any previous one, the township spelling contests in our schools have been largely attended and scholars, teachers and parents have taken great interest in them.

During the last week or two the township contests among the schools of this county, preliminary to the county and district contests to be held next month, have taken place for the purpose of determining the three contestants from each township to represent their particular township in the contest. The townships reporting, with the names of the victor spellers, to County Superintendent H. G. Felger are as follows:

The Winners.

Jackson—Lulu Smith, Stella Martin and Emma Baumert.

Scipio—Frankie Reams, Lee Sanders and Florence Allen.

Lake—Edith Jarvis, Goldie Jackson and Helen Byerley.

Wayne—Milo Clark, Vern McCready and Helen Giant.

Washington — Esther Karringer, Augusta Bracht and Lester Schowe.

Marion—Ervin Kaiser, George Thompson and Garhardt Wyss.

Madison—Robert Youse, Don Peckham and Frieda Marquardt.

Pleasant—Everett Thurber, Edna Woods and Georgia McDowell.

St. Joseph—Majorie Costello, Marqueritte Eby and Opha Davis.

Jefferson—Bernadetta Murphy, Emma Heine and Rupert Murphy.

Maumee—Albert Fahlsing, Goldie Chaney and Bessie Gaston.

Lafayette—Helen Wilder, Kennith Hummer and Paul Hatfield.

Aboite—Ethel Van Hoozen, Lorene Pfeiffer and Bertha Klaehn.

Monroe—Edith McGonagle, Clara McGonagle and Hortenso Droegemeyer.

Eel River—Elsie Fleck, Ada Jewell and Velma Crist.

Perry—Marie Krause, Evangeline Fischer and Dessie Tonkle.

Springfield township has not yet reported to the county superintendent. Cedar Creek and Milan townships hold their contests Friday.

The County Contest.

The county contest, when these township winners will compete for the honor of representing the county in the congressional district contest, will be held in this city on Saturday, February 4, either in the assembly room of the court house or the auditorium of the high school building, probably the latter.

The judges for this contest will be: County Superintendent L. E. Oplinger, of Decatur; Prof. Alvin P. Leverton, of this city, principal of the Nebraska schools, and Prof. Nathan C. Coil, the principal of the schools at Monroeville. The pronouncer of the words given to the scholars will be Superintendent A. R. Huyette, of Bluffton.

Prizes will be given the winners and in reference to them and the contest County Superintendent Felger, in a personal letter addressed to each of the winners in the township contests, says:

"To stimulate the contestants to higher endeavor, we have again made provisions for medals. Three of them will be offered. A gold, silver and a bronze medal. The gold medal alone is worth $12.50 and is a beauty. I am sure that it will be worth the while of any pupil to compete for it not for its intrinsic value, but for the honor that will be yours if you win it. Besides the medals many other prizes will be offered. Practically no one who won the medals or prizes last year will be in the contest this year, so your chances will be as good as any other pupil's chances.

"Sixty-three contestants will be eligible to enter the contest this year. Some one, of course, will need to necessarily go down first. If that one happens to be you, do not feel badly, for someone must be first and it does not necessarily mean that you are poorest speller either. If you have done your best to become a good speller, you deserve as much credit as the best. It is the spirit with which we work that is the important thing. These spelling contests have been arranged by our state superintendent of public instruction, primarily, to bring about better spelling in our public schools. By having these contests more stress has been placed on spelling and I am sure it has improved the spelling immensely. It has helped you, I know. Therefore it has paid you to work hard for its own sake.

Out of sixty-six contestants last year, sixty-five attended our country contest and only one was late. Let us make the record a perfect one this year. I want you to invite your teachers, your schoolmates and your fathers and mothers to come to this contest. It surely will be interesting. Last year it took over seven hours to decide who the best speller of the county was. It will probably take as long or longer this year so you see the necessity of your coming and being here strictly on time."

The District Contest

Following this county contest there will be a congressional district contest to determine the three contestants to represent the Twelfth district in the state spelling contest. This congressional contest will be held in Fort Wayne on Saturday, February 18, and it promises to bring to the city great crowds from all the counties of the district. All of the counties of the district will be represented except DeKalb. For some reason that county has not been holding spelling contests. DeKalb, however, will be officially recognized. The pronouncer has been chosen from that county, Prof. Henry E. Coe, of Auburn, the county superintendent of schools. The judges and the place for holding the contest have not yet been selected.

CHALLENGE FROM MEYER BROS COMPANY.

Offers to Refund Money if Dr. Howard's Specific Will Not Cure Any Case of Constipation or Dyspepsia.

Meyer Bros. Co. are seeking the worst case of dyspepsia or constipation in Fort Wayne or vicinity to test Dr. Howard's new specific for the cure of those diseases.

So confident are they that this remarkable medicine will effect a lasting cure in a short time, that they offer to refund the money should it not be successful.

In order to secure the quickest possible introduction Meyer Bros. Co. will sell a regular fifty cent package of this medicine at half price, 25 cents.

This specific of Dr. Howard's will cure sick headache, dizzy feelings, constipation, dyspepsia and all forms of malaria and liver trouble. It does not simply give relief for a time; it makes permanent and complete cures.

It will regulate the bowels, tone up the whole intestinal tract, give you an appetite, make food taste good and digest well and increase vigor. Joy and happiness will take the place of that "don't care whether I live or die" feeling. Meyer Bros. Co.

12,000, HEADED BY NOTABLES OF TWO NATIONS, COMING TO OLD GUARD BALL.

THE OLD GUARD

In every way the annual ball of the Old Guard, which takes place on Thursday night in Madison Square Garden, will surpass any affair ever given under the auspices of this organization. At least 12,000 persons are expected to be present. Among them will be representatives of nearly all the prominent military organizations of the United States and Canada, as well as high state, federal and municipal officials of both countries.

The entire amphitheater of the garden is to be transformed into a ballroom, while the balconies, galleries and box tier of the building will be elaborately decorated with flags, tents and floral pieces, giving the interior of the building a background and side setting of an army camp. More than 40,000 extra electric lights are to be installed to make the ballroom a blaze of light, and many novelties in electric effects are to be introduced. The music will be furnished by the Old Guard band of two hundred pieces.

Governor Dix to Come.

Among the other distinguished guests who will be present will be Governor Dix and his entire military staff, and Earl Grey, governor general of Canada, and Lady Grey. Earl Grey's military staff will accompany him.

Colonel E. M. Renouf and his staff and representatives of the Royal artillery, of Montreal, will also be present.

Major S. Ellis Briggs, commander of the Old Guard, has also been assured of there being a representative delegation present from the Philadelphia City troops, the Governor's Foot guard, of Connecticut; the Ancient and Honorable Artillery company, of Boston; the Providence Light infantry, the Richmond (Va.) Blues, the Charleston Light infantry, the Worcester Continental Veterans, the Albany Burgess corps, the Bristol (R. I.) Veterans, the Cleveland (Ohio) Veterans, the Manchester (R. I.) Veterans, the Boston Veterans, the Albany Veterans and the Washington (D. C.) Veterans.

Besides the members of these organizations there will be a delegation of West Point cadets and officers from all the army posts in the east, as well as military and executive attaches of the various legations in Washington. The grand march, which starts at midnight, will be one of the largest and most brilliant in the history of the Old Guard, and in it will be men of every branch of the United States army and navy, together with the veterans, foreign army officers and dignitaries of the state and country.

Other Governors May Come.

Besides Governor Dix, it is expected that the governors of several other states will attend the ball, if possible.

Among others who will attend the ball will be Rear Admiral E. H. C. Lewize, U. S. N.; Real Admiral J. C. Rester, U. S. N.; Judge Blanchard, Mr. George Cromwell, borough president of Richmond; Mr. Edward Lauterbach, State Senators Newcomb, Alexander Brough, H. W. Pollock and D. J. Hate, Secretary of State Lazansky, Judge Erlanger, Mr. Edward Weil, Mr. J. A. Goodwin, Mr. Thomas B. Coughlin, Mr. Joseph J. Walker, Mr. Jacob Levy, Mr. Franklin Brooks, Representative William Sulzer, Mr. Max S. Levine and Clement J. Driscoll.

A PLUCKY SCHOOLMA'AM.

In Arizona it is the law that a prospective teacher, lacking normal school or college credentials, must stand examination at the county seat. This necessity for appearance for examination at Flagstaff, the political center of Coconino county, lately confronted Miss Carrie E. Fish, a young woman who came from Ohio two months ago to teach at Fredonia, the northernmost settlement of Arizona.

Mainly populated by Mormon stockmen and their families, it is situated on Kanab Wash, only three miles south of the Utah line. Flagstaff is to the southward 130 miles, but direct passage would be possible only to a bird, for between is the Grand canyon of the Colorado river, a mile deep and fourteen miles broad.

The only road to Flagstaff is 235 miles long, by way of Lee's ferry across the Colorado and through a desert, dangerous and almost uninhabited country for almost all the way, the tarij rarely used by and travelers save Navajo and Moqui Indians, through whose reservation it passes.

So the little schoolma'am bravely started northward for Flagstaff by stage to a point on the Salt Lake railroad in Utah, transferring to the Santa Fe system at Barstow, Cal. The round trip was one of 1,200 miles, consuming twelve days, the cost a serious tax upon her salary for the term. But she passed the examination.—Flakstaff correspondence, St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Dandruff

Promptly Vanishes

Delightful Preparation That Meyer Bros. Co. Guarantees Will Banish Dandruff.

If you want to get rid of dandruff you must destroy the dandruff germs.

The time to kill dandruff germs is right now; you wouldn't wait until tomorrow to kill a black spider if you saw one crawling up your sleeve?

Dandruff germs are just as deadly in one way as the black spiders are in another.

PARISIAN SAGE kills dandruff germs.

PARISIAN SAGE grows hair; stops hair from falling out, eradicates dandruff, puts an end to splitting hair—and all in two weeks, or money back.

PARISIAN SAGE does more; it turns dull, lifeless, faded hair into bright, lustrous hair and for that purpose is used by women and men who take pride in beautiful and luxuriant hair.

It is the most delightful and refreshing hair dressing ever put into a bottle and should be used by every member of the family, not only to banish all hair worries, but to preserve the hair and keep it healthy and full of life.

WIFE'S EFFORTS WILL WIN PARDON FOR VAN SCHAICK.

Reported President of Board of Parole Will Recommend His Liberation Early Next Week—Was in Command of the General Slocum—Has Served a Third of His Term—Married When Imprisonment Was Inevitable.

New York, Jan. 26.—Years of effort on the part of his wife, who married him when his imprisonment was inevitable, will result, it is reported today, in the parole of Captain William A. Van Shaick, the captain of the steamer General Slocum on June 15, 1904, when she burned to the water's edge off North Brother island with a loss of more than one thousand lives.

Captain Van Schaick is serving a term of ten years in Sing Sing. He has already served a third of his term. He is now more than seventy-five years old, and the months of imprisonment have made inroads on his health. It is reported that the president of the board of parole is to recommend his release and that, probably in the early part of next week, he will be liberated.

Since Captain Van Schaick has been in prison his wife, who was Grace Mary Spratt, a nurse, has been endeavoring to secure his pardon. A petition signed by more than 200,000 citizens was prepared through her efforts and presented to Mr. Roosevelt when he was president. The petition asked for the captain's release. Mr. Roosevelt took no action on it.

Captain Van Schaick was convicted for misconduct, negligence and inattention as master of the Slocum during the time of the disaster. It was contended that he should have put the vessel ashore sooner than he did. Captain Van Schaick protested that he did the best that could have been done under the circumstances. He appealed, but his conviction was sustained in the higher courts.

CAPTAIN W. H. VAN SCHAICK

While the captain was in his darkest hour Miss Spratt married him. They had known each other fourteen years and he had asked her years before to become his wife. She was desirous, however, of continuing her work as a nurse and would not wed.

"When I knew that he needed me the most and that the brightness of his life had been shadowed by the catastrophe and his sentence, I decided to go to him," she said. "I could not let him bear his load alone."

VERY EXCLUSIVE.

Frederick Townsend Martin, New York's "arbiter elegantiarum," believes that society should include people of genius no less than people of high birth.

"High birth alone makes a very poor sort of society," said Mr. Martin at a dinner at Delmonico's. "Such a society, relying on exclusiveness alone, becomes more and more stupid, more and more haughty. Finally it reaches the attitude exemplified in the case of the starving royalist countess, living in an attic in the Faubourg St. Germain, who, on being asked to meet a famous poet, answered:

"'No, thank you. I make it a rule never to be introduced to people I don't know.'"

THE EASY PUBLIC.

"The public likes to be swindled. I am reminded of a bet made by an actor in Butte. His bet was that he could collect $600 with three insertions of a three-line advertisement that promised nothing and was void of meaning.

"'Wise readers will send $1. R. C. B. D. Ticket 22,454.'

"Three days later the second advertisement appeared:

"'Last chance. Send $1 before Sunday. Monday, everything refused. R. C. B. D. Ticket 22,454.'

"His last insertion was on a Saturday, thus:

"'All remittances of $1 arriving after the last mail tonight absolutely refused. R. C. B. D. Ticket 22,454.'

Mr. Heinze smiled.

"On Monday morning," he said, "the Butte actor invited his friends to inspect the correspondence resulting from his advertisement which promised nothing. He won his bet easily. He had received 856 money orders for $1, which he immediately returned."

Chief of Police Steward, of Chicago, must be as much of an optimist as the Chicago papers say he is. LOCAL FANS ARE HOT FOR FORBES

FIGHTERS SHOW WELL

When Harry Forbes takes on Johnny Coulon in the match scheduled between the two local fight fans will be warm for him on account of the excellent showing he made in his bout last night when he put Mike Bartley away in four round.

To be a bit more exact he disposed of Michael in two rounds as he knocked him through the ropes in the second and had him down for the count of nine and just as he staggered to his feet the bell was sounded half a minute before the limit of three minutes had expired. This gave Bartley a minute to recuperate and he stood for a lot of punishment in the third round. The gong was touched off ahead of time again in the fourth but when Bartley went to his corner his seconds saw he was unfit to continue the milling and one of them tossed a towel in the ring.

Forbes used both hands to good advantage from the opening of the fight and although Bartley was the favorite on account of his wide acquaintance here and the fact that he had put on some good mills in Fort Wayne his most ardent admirers were forced to the conclusion in the first round that he would be lucky to stay on his feet ten rounds. He mixed with Forbes right through the go and in the third round got over a wallop that cut his opponent badly above the left eye. In return for this he got his nose battered two or three times and it was bleeding through three rounds.

Bartley recognized from the first that he was up against a tough proposition and evidently trusted to luck to land a knockout in the early stages of the game but Forbes was shifty and kept his opponent swinging wildly. In the meantime he was using a straight jab to the face with telling effect and taking his own sweet time about stowing his adversary away.

Both men were on the streets today and both showed they had been through a lively engagement. The bout was one of the best that has been staged by the St. Joe Athletic club as both men waded in from the tap of the bell and kept the big crowd on its feet all the time.

Jimmy Kilroy's mother, who had been very ill for several days, died and prevented her son from fulfilling his engagement here and Joe Holman was substituted. Just whoever Joe may be does not make a great deal of difference but certain it is that he and Jimmy Travers put on a dandy little semi-windup.

Both of these boys were up and fighting all the time and some of the shiftiest foot work seen here in many moons was displayed by the pair. Both lacked steam to their blows but at that they mixed it lively and there was never a dull minute in their set-to.

Kid Olive, a local plumber whose name is in all probability not the same that he fought under because his acquaintances kept calling him Heine and insisting that he slip over a haymaker, put on a bout with one Carney, late of Petersburg, Va., but now a resident of Fort Wayne. This mill was pulled off at the rate of about six blows to the round and both men exhibited woeful lack of ring experience. Olive made his maiden appearance and did as well as might have been expected of him.

CENTLIVRE TEAM HITS FAST PACE

Easily Captured Three Games from the Magnolias Bowlers.

SCORES IN DETAIL

In the first Brunswick league games the Centlivre team hit a hot pace in the opening game and rolled an average of better than 900 for the series taking the Magnolias down the line three times in succession. George Harkenrider picked off both the high marks for the encounter with 240 for his best performance and an average of 205 2-3 for the three games. Fred Berghoff rolled second high average but George Ryan beat him for second money in individual work with 221. Ed Harkenrider doubled in his last game but bowled below his average.

Frank Madden had an even 200 average in his first and second games but he blew up in the third and lost the average to Heine. John Beckes rolled 212 in the first game and this was the high score for the losers. The scores follow.

M'FARLAND TOO FAST FOR ERNE.

Stockyards Lightweight Has Wide Margin at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Jan. 26.—Packey McFarland of Chicago had a decided advantage over Young Erne of this city in their six-round bout before the National Athletic club last night. There was not a moment after the first round that the Chicago boy did not show his superiority.

SOME "GIANTS" IN DAYS WHEN REAL GIANTS WERE SCARCE

This is an interesting picture for more reasons than one. It is sort of a combination of the new and the old in the New York baseball club. There is "Jack" Doyle, for instance, who represents many a lively page of baseball history in New York in the past.

There is also Mathewson, the beginning of the new, and the beginning of the days when New York began to have something which looked a little more like a baseball team.

The season in which this photograph was taken was that when Horace Fogel decided that Mathewson was cut out for a first baseman, and not for a pitcher, and so stationed him on the other side of the diamond.

Also this photograph shows Frank Bowerman. After McGraw came to New York Bowerman developed into something of a catcher. Prior to that time he was mostly concerned in jumping to the American league for a fat contract and inducing Mathewson to go with him. The matter got as far as a contract, but Mathewson is never happier than when he thinks about it and congratulates himself that he could stay in New York in preference to going to St. Louis.

"Roaring Bill" Kennedy is included in the group. In his day "Bill" was a fine pitcher, but he wasn't sturdy enough for too much exercise. The best of his work was done for Brooklyn.

Jackson, an outfielder, who was discovered by Horace Fogel, is another of the New York players. His first hit was made in New York by crowing very loud not wholly unlike a rooster. He could make as much noise on the coaching line as he could miss strikes at the plate.

It was said that he would be one of the greatest outfielders in the United States if he could get a chance. He had plenty of chance, but somehow he grew the reverse way.

The other fielder is "Tom" Jones. Eventually Jones was banished because he "smudged" all the atmosphere at the Polo ground one afternoon with one of the blackest clouds of discouraging language that ever polluted the air.

He was sorry immediately after it happened, but like some other famous athletes, he never came back. Last year he played in the Eastern league, where he still manages to bat fairly well, and, if anything, he fields better than he did when he was with New York.

Mathewson has always been an anchor to windward for the Giants, but the real upbuilding came when John J. McGraw happened along with some batters, and an idea of team work. Since that memorable date New York has not always won the championship, but there is yet to be a season in which the Giants have relapsed to the hasty pudding school.

MEETING IS SET FOR NEXT MONTH

Dr. Carson Will Be Well Enough to Attend by That Time.

VARNELL IN DENVER

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 26.—For the reason that Claude H. Varnell, owner of the Fort Wayne team and one of the directors held high in the esteem of Dr. F. R. Carson, president of the Central league, is in Denver, no meeting of that body will be held until the doctor is assured that Mr. Varnell has returned from Denver and will attend.

However, it is practically certain that the Fort Wayne owner will be back before the first of February and the meeting will be held either the first or second Monday of that month and will not be delayed more than ten days beyond the time that was agreed upon at Chicago last fall.

Dr. Carson is slowly recovering from his illness but he has shown great recuperative power and will be able to get out of the house in a few days.

RAIDY IN ZANESVILLE.

New Leader Says He Is Proud of His Berth.

Zanesville, O., Jan. 26.—The new pilot of the Zanesville Athletics arrived here this morning, looking as spick and span as though he had just stepped from the swinging doors of a correspondence school and was seeking his first job with his diploma resting snugly on his hip. He was elated over the prospects for a winning team in the city of his adoption, and seemed determined to give the fans just what they needed, when they needed it, and how they needed it.

"You can say for me," said Joe last night, "that I never in all my baseball career heard such outspoken words of encouragement from the people as caught my ear since I arrived in Zanesville. I have been here less than a day, but there were more words of help and encouragement handed out heartily and wholesomely than I received during the entire two seasons that I existed in Grand Rapids. If I don't give this city a first division team, then I never want another chance in the baseball world."

Manager Raidy will remain in the city for three or four days and will then return to Grand Rapids. He will make a trip around certain divisions of the American association headquarters in the search of players.

TO MEET PHILLIPS.

Secretary Irwin and Bill Phillips to Hold Conference This Week.

Wheeling, W. Va., Jan. 26.—Secretary Will W. Irwin, of the Wheeling club, and Bill Phillips, manager of the Wheeling baseball team for the past two seasons, will hold a conference in Pittsburg the latter part of this week and talk over conditions and prospects for the coming season. In a letter received from Phillips within the past few days he states he expects to return to Wheeling and manage the Wheeling team, while Secretary Irwin, too, is of the opinion that that Bill will be back with the locals. While East Liverpool wants the services of Phillips, it is not likely he will go there.

M'CARTHY WORKING OUT.

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 26.—"Mickey" McCarthy is already taking light workouts in preparation for the coming season. With Eddie Stack, of the Phillies, the youngster, recently signed with the Pittsburg Pirates, is working in the "gym" at St. Viateur's college, Illinois. Mickey became accustomed to early practice last season, when he started in the Notre Dame gymnasium immediately after the Christmas holidays. Late in October the shortstop was still playing, a stretch of baseball maneuvers extending over ten months. No wonder "Mac" appeared to be slowing up in the fall of 1910 while still with the Broncos. At that time he had already been at the game for nine months.

Mack Thinks Well of Him

KRAUSE.

Will Harry Krause, sensational southpaw of the 1909 campaign, come back? Connie Mack evidently thinks so. At least Cornelius held on to Krause when he was practically useless last season.

Krause was taken with walking typhoid fever last spring. He was confined to bed off and on for a long time. When he did pitch, he did not show anything that warranted his retention. Connie Mack, however, had faith in the kid and held on to him. Near the close of the season Krause began to deliver the quality of goods that made him famous in 1909.

CHICAGO IN THE LEAD.

Five-Man Squad Rolls In Good Form at Tournament.

St. Louis, Jan. 26.—Chicago took its place at the head of the five-man event in the American Bowling congress here when the Flenners rolled 2,924, tilting the former record of the meet, the Tifo's 2,739, by almost 200 pins. Grand work on the part of "Bill" Miner with 279, a congress record, in the first game gave the team a 1,040 start, and from there on they were never in danger, although the veteran Andy Hall could not get warmed up at any stage, although he turkeyed out at the finish. The team got 903 and 981 in its last two games. Miner's great game came from two spares at the start and a row of strikes clear to the end.

EXPECT MUCH OF BRENNAN.

(Toledo Blade.)

The Toledo club need not fear the lack of a strong-armed catcher next season for should both Hart and Waring prove failures at throwing to bases Ed Brennan can step in and fill the bill when it comes to nailing would-be pilferers.

Armour's third string catcher is wintering at Jasonville, Ind., just at present, although his home is in St. Louis, Mo., and here he is keeping his salary whip in trim by repairing boilers in an electric plant. Repairing boilers is a duty that requires no little muscular exercise and this should put the Central leaguer's wing on edge for the coming practice sessions and woe be unto the unwary baseman that trifles with same.

Brennan's career in professional baseball has been short but sweet. In 1908 he joined the Topeka, Western association club. He was sold to Springfield, Mo., when this team joined the Western league. In July, 1909, Springfield disposed of him to Terre Haute and there he has remained ever since.

Brennan is a real cocky and confident youngster, for he expects to more than make good with the Mud Hens and do all in his power to assist them in their merry chase for the pennant.

SAME OLD SPIRIT THERE.

The Broncos and Billikens fought it out for the pennant from start to finish last season, and that they will be the chief contenders for the flag again this season is a pleasing venture in the realms of winter dreams. The snow league rarely outlives the last of March, but the dope goes on forever, and to judge by comparative conditions the "big guns" in last year's fight will again head the procession.

Ed Smith is to lead the Broncos, and he has nearly all the veterans who first converted for Eddie Wheeler in the early days with which to start the chase. Dr. James Casey, down in Fort Wayne, is also touted as beginning under practically the same conditions under which Jimmy Burke first started his aggressive campaign for league honors. Burke's team was made up of youngsters, and "Jimmy, the Second" will start with loads of the green material, according to reports from Fort Wayne. Eddie Wheeler scored a signal success with his club of veterans with the necessary mixture of youthful performers, and Jimmy Burke did the same with a club of youngsters with a sprinkling of old heads. The Bend and Wayne gladiators are due for a mighty struggle.

Pickups From the Sport World

If Konetchy of the Cardinals is unable to take his place on first next year, Roger Bresnahan will be ready to give up his job. Koney has had a serious operation this winter.

Tommy Leach may play second base for the Pirates next summer instead of the outfield. The little fellow can just about fill the bill at second as well as he can in the outfield.

It takes $75,000 to run the American league each season now. The umpires take $35,000 of that amount away in salaries each summer, while the rest of it goes to pay the salaries of the president and his office force.

The story that a team of picked Japanese players will visit this country landing here in April is rather an old one. They were due here last year and were to have played with all the big league teams.

If Delehanty is in good condition next summer Hughie Jennings says he will feel several years younger. That bad knee of Del's has mended so he can take his place at the start of the season he says.

Nicholas Gazetos, a thrifty Greek merchant and ball fan of Butler, Pa., has sailed for his former home in Greece, taking with him a supply of balls, bats and other baseball paraphernalia. "Nick" intends to introduce the grand old game in Greece.

There is but one club in the American league now which is keeping Tom Jones, the Tiger first sacker, from being sent back to the minors. This is the St. Louis Browns which has been causing so much trouble in the league during the present winter season.

Pittsburg has just purchased for $1,000 from Kewanee, Ill., a pitcher named William Pressy who for three seasons has proved the star of that club. Pressy is a lanky right-hander, whose effectiveness is said to be due to the mastery of Matty's famous "fadeaway" delivery.

The Terre Haute club expects to receive the reporting call for March 25, as a hard schedule of spring games confronts the Tots. Eleven battles have been booked with major league and American association clubs. Manager Raidy will endeavor to secure some of the high brow players for early in the season.

Billy Sullivan, catcher of the Chicago White Sox, has added Joe Tinker to his list of real estate clients. Sullivan is the agent of an Oregon concern which disposes of farm lands. A few days ago the little shortstop of the Cubs was talked into purchasing 18 acres of fruit lands. The Tinker family will move to the western homestead next fall.

A New York writer says that it is strange none of the other clubs have made an effort to take Carrigan off of John I. Taylor's hands. The Boston catcher was one of the players who Taylor said would not be carried next season, yet nothing has been done to trade or sell him. There is no doubt that Taylor could part with Carrigan in a jiffy if his price was reasonable. But judging from the demands he makes for his catcher he has no sincere intention of getting rid of him. Carrigan wants more money than Taylor thinks he is worth, and this caused him to make the talk of getting rid of him, but if the truth were known it would probably be found that just as soon as Carrigan gets his figures down to where they belong he can step into a Boston uniform.

RUNT WALSH CUT OUT BAD HABITS

Has Advanced Steadily in Baseball Since and is Way Up.

PLAYED WITH LIMA

In the days of the Interstate league that lived through half a season of the time that Fort Wayne was out of the Central and finally blew up because patrons did not like the idea of being in an organization with such little towns as Anderson, Lima, Kalamazoo and a few of the sort, Runt Walsh came here with the Lima team.

He probably had some other name beside "Runt" before he reached the Knickerbocker stage but since he entered baseball he has always been so called and his parents and his baptismal record are probably the only keepers of the secret of his true name. That does not make any difference for the purpose of the story.

The Runt was a b. f. in those days. In other words he was engaged in a war with J. Barley Corn and John B. had the best of it. He went to Dayton and tried there and finally the Central league lost sight of him until he bobbed up a couple of years ago at South Bend where he made such a good showing that Philadelphia drafted him.

In the meantime Mr. Walsh had found that he was carrying a big handicap in his battle with booze so he threw a towel in the ring and asknowledged that he was defeated and he quit. People who had known him when he played at Dayton and for a short time at Terre Haute looked for him to fall back into his old ways again but he proved that his reform was permanent and last season he made a most creditable showing in the National league.

This is gratifying to the friends and acquaintances of the player. Like most of the men in the game possessed of an unquenchable thirst he was a companionable fellow, made lots of friends in spite of his bad habits and his rise is an example of what temperate conduct will do for a player.

An eastern exchange carries the story that "Runt" Walsh has signed his contract with the Phillies and that Manager Doolin is figuring on using the former Vet in a regular position next summer. It is thought that he may be given the third base job vacated by Eddie Grant and that Hans Lobert may be given a trial at first base. This sounds like sensible talk, inasmuch as Lobert will never shine at third and that Kitty Bransfield is no longer a child. If a place could be found for Hans where his batting and baserunning could be used in every game he would prove a valuable man and few fans in this neck of the woods have any doubt as to Walsh's ability to hold up his end.

NO FLIGHT TODAY.

Key West, Fla., Jan. 26.—Early predictions that the force of the wind here would moderate during the hours after daybreak failed of fulfillment and the continued strength of the currents created conditions unfavorable for the contemplated flight of Aviator McCurdy from Key West to Havana. No definite announcement, however, as to whether the flight would be attempted during the forenoon was forthcoming.

Training Camp Furnishes a Lot of Fun for the Players

The training season for ball clubs is only a few weeks off and some people imagine a training camp is one continuous round of groans from the ball players whose joints creak every time they move, while others have been led to believe the ball players do nothing but have their fun, says Tom Swope in the Dayton Herald. It is both and neither. A training camp is a happy mixture of joy and sorrow. No matter how bad a veteran's bones may ache he has fun with the rookies, but in his solemn moments he is a thing to be let alone, for of all the grouches on record a training camp grouch is the worst.

But there's fun and lots of it in a training camp, be it that of a big league team or a bush aggregation. Some of the yarns told on the big league rookies are a little far fetched. Most of the players tried out by the big boys have been in the miners long enough to get wise, but in a minor league camp there is a few of the real bushy kind who will fall for anything the experienced players tell them.

Frank Winchell, the rangy pitcher the Vets secured from the Blue Grass league towards the close of last season, tells about a catcher named Willis tried out at Paris last spring. Willis was a tall fellow, green as grass and a target for all the jokesmiths in camp.

"He came in the club house the first day," says Winchell, "and saw a pair of sliding pads hanging on the wall.

"'What are those things hanging up there?' he asked some one.

"'Why those are shoulder pads for catchers,' replied the fellow. 'You wear them around your neck so that the protector straps won't rub your shoulders sore.'

"Willis fell for it, and put the sliding pads around his shoulder every day until the manager found it out and put him wise.

"One day when it was raining I went up to the hotel where Willis and a bunch of pitchers were staying. Willis shared a big room with several other fellows, and it was headquarters for the bunch when the weather was bad.

"When I opened the door I saw him standing over in the corner, while three Frank,' said one of them, 'you want in pitchers were in the opposite one. 'Here on this. We're practicing up on control.'

"When I found out what they were doing I joined in. Each one of them had brought a sack of candy beans, and they were making that poor boob stand over in the corner with his mouth open while they tried to hit it with the beans. They told him they had to get control, and that that was the best way."

"But Willis wasn't a rube at all compared to a pitcher we had down south one year," remarked "Punch" Knoll when Winchell got through telling about Willis.

"This fellow was a boob right. He came into the club house one day with a mighty sore arm. He sat around moping for a while, and then began looking at the ceiling. Pretty soon he spied the ham bone we used to rub our bats with hanging close to the ceiling.

"'What's that bone used for?' he asked.

"'Why that belongs to Jones, our star pitcher. He uses it to rub his arm with when it gets sore,' somebody replied.

"This rube hit it out of the club house door like a thief being chased by a cop. We didn't see him the next day nor the next. The third day the manager started to asking about him, and that night I and another fellow hunted him up. We found him at his boarding house with his pitching arm in a sling and a long expression on his face.

"'What's the matter,' I asked.

"'Why I got a ham bone and rubbed my sore arm like that big stiff told me to, and I don't believe I'll ever be able to pitch again,' he blubbered.

"We looked at his arm, and it was the worst looking salary wing I have ever seen before or since. He must have rubbed with all his might. Where it wasn't raw it was blue as indigo. He finally got over it, and pitched good ball for us that summer, but when his arm got sore he didn't use any ham bones on it. Liniment was good enough for him."

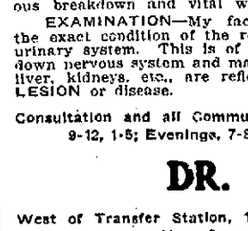
I Cure Pelvic, Nervous and Chronic Diseases

SPECIAL REDUCED FEES THIS MONTH



The world moves rapidly. The constant changing of events and the increased amount of nerve force required to keep pace with the economical conditions have brought about new and complicated forms of disease that have baffled the skill of the physician and the surgeon until he, in desperation, has deemed it necessary to perform some sort of an operation upon the many obscure cases that have come to him, in the hope that in some manner he might be able to relieve the patient's suffering. If he had taken second thought, instead of resorting to the knife, had made a careful and deep study of these new forms of diseases he might have found, as I have, that in most cases they are amenable to rational treatment and can be cured without subjecting the patient to the horror of an unnecessary operation.

An ALL WISE CREATOR cannot have made the many mistakes in a redundancy of organs that are generally supposed to be relieved by the surgeon's knife. But if a thorough study and the use of common sense is used it will be found that most of these diseases can be completely cured by scientific methods instead of mutilating the patient by removing a part of his anatomy that happens to be in a refractory or diseased condition.

For many years I have made a special study of these deep-seated and chronic diseases, in the hope that they might be cured; and have found that in most cases, if rational, scientific methods are used, a cure can be effected, and the patient restored to a normal and healthy condition and still retain all the organs that his CREATOR endowed him with.

For the years that is given man to live, it is the utmost folly to neglect the health and miss the happiness that is only possible to those who are strong and healthy.

Besides, as a business proposition, the physically weak are handicapped in their struggle for existence and must necessarily fail.

Do You Want to Be a Failure or a Success?

Ten advantages of my methods: 1st., CERTAIN RESULTS; 2nd, PRACTICALLY PAINLESS; 3rd, NO DETENTION FROM BUSINESS; 4th, NO KNIFE; 5th, NO HOSPITAL EXPENSES; 6th, YOU RECEIVE THE WORLD'S BEST OF SKILL AND SCIENCE, REGARDLESS OF EXPENSE TO ME; 7th, PERSONAL ATTENTION (NO HIRED ASSISTANTS;) 8th, NO GUESS WORK; 9th, FIFTEEN YEARS' EXPERIENCE (ASK THE OTHERS); 10th, A PERMANENT CURE.

CAN YOU AFFORD TO EXPERIMENT?

I TREAT VARICOCELE, HYDROCELE, STRICTURE, PROSTATIC ENLARGEMENT, CATARRH, STOMACH TROUBLES, PILES, FISTULA, BLOOD POISON AND ALL REFLEX AND NERVOUS DISEASES.

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN and nearly all nervous diseases are the direct result of chronic or imperfectly treated PELVIC DISEASES. My many years of experience in the treatment of Pelvic and Chronic diseases have enabled me to perfect NEW AND ORIGINAL METHODS that POSITIVELY AND PERMANENTLY cure nearly all cases of Nervous breakdown and vital weakness.

EXAMINATION—My facilities for examination are unexcelled. I learn the exact condition of the rectum, bladder and every organ of the genito urinary system. This is of the highest importance, inasmuch as a broken-down nervous system and many or most of the troubles of the stomach, liver, kidneys, etc., are reflex and are the direct result of some PELVIC LESION or disease.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE MAYOR.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Jan. 20, 1911.

Honorable Common Council:

Gentlemen:—I desire to inform you that I have approved the following ordinances passed at your regular session of January 10th, 1911:

Appropriation Ordinance No. 430, an ordinance appropriating one hundred dollars ($100) to "Miscellaneous Claims Account."

Appropriation Ordinance No. 431, an ordinance appropriating two hundred fifty dollars ($250) to "Miscellaneous Claims Account."

General Ordinance No. 460, an ordinance confirming and approving a contract entered into the 22nd day of September, 1910, by and between the City of Fort Wayne, by and through its Board of Public Works, and S. F. Bowser & Co.

General Ordinance No. 461, an ordinance ratifying and approving a contract entered into the 27th day of December, 1910, by and between the City of Fort Wayne and the Kaough Coal Co.

Respectfully,
JESSE GRICE, Mayor.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Jan. 14, 1911.

To the Honorable Common Council:

Gentlemen:—We submit herewith a communication from Dr. Geo. J. Studer, which is self-explanatory. We have on file an itemized bill from him for services rendered the Police Department amounting to $327.50. We believe this bill ought to be allowed, but the Police Station Account has no funds to pay for the services of a Police Surgeon. This letter and bill demonstrates the fact that the City ought to have a regular Police Surgeon, and we believe one can be had for $200 a year. If this position is created we are under the impression that Dr. Studer would be willing to accept in payment $200 for his bill rendered, thus saving the city a large sum of money. We trust you will give this matter your careful and earnest consideration.

Respectfully submitted,
JOSEPH HITZEL,
MARION B. JOHNSON,
WM. D. HENDERSON,
Board of Public Safety.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Dec. 15, 1910.

Marion B. Johnson,
Sec'y Board of Public Safety,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

Dear Sir:—In explanation of the statement which I herewith hand you, I wish to state that each call represents only the first attention given to each patient. In many of the cases further medical attention was necessary which I had to give, using my supplies and drugs. Also, at the station my supplies and drugs were almost invariably used.

All calls were made by order of the Chief or his officers. In a few cases I received fees, usually when parents themselves made a request for attention and in these cases the Chief or Captain had to force the payment.

Many cases were of such nature that unless they had received attention, they would suffer and later develop serious complications were they compelled to remain locked up unattended. With the attention needed, however, the department could hold them and they receive their punishment as deserved.

In several instances I was called to determine whether a criminal was shamming to avoid arrest, and found a condition in one, where, had he been arrested and taken to the station, he would have undoubtedly been seriously ill as a result. He was arrested a week later, however, when fully recovered.

The services of a doctor are needed badly and one who has done the work can be considered a competent judge.

In rape cases, for instance, in supposed accidents which prove later to be assaults, the Police Surgeon can determine at once and start the department working.

When calling a doctor not connected with the department, great inconvenience has been met with, because they will not come unless guaranteed their fee and they can refuse legitimately. I have done this work and given my time because I am under oath and bond to do so, and have received no remuneration outside of what the patients themselves paid, and that was but little.

Kindly ask the Board to give this matter their attention.

Respectfully,
GEO. J. STUDER.

Nays—None.

The ordinance was read the third time in full and on motion the ordinance was now passed by the following vote:

Ayes—15 viz: Bauer, Braun, Dittoe, Felger, Haller, Hamilton, Kinder, Pfleger, Pinniger, Rogge, Sarver, Schroeder, Van Sweringen, Wagner, Welch.

Nays—None.

GENERAL ORDINANCE NO. —.

An Ordinance Approving and Ratifying a Contract Entered into on the 12th day of January, 1911, by and Between the City of Fort Wayne and David M. Winburn, providing for the removal of Garbage.

Section 1. Whereas, heretofore, on the 12th day of January, 1911, the City of Fort Wayne, by and through its Board of Public Works, entered into a contract with David M. Winburn for the removal of kitchen garbage and other matter during the year 1911, which contract is as follows:

This Agreement, made this 12th day of January, 1911, by and between the City of Fort Wayne, by and through its Board of Public Works, party of the first part, and David M. Winburn, of the City of Fort Wayne, Indiana, party of the second part, witnesseth:

That for and in consideration hereinafter expressed, that the party of the second part shall and hereby agrees to collect and remove all kitchen garbage, tin cans, broken dishes and glassware during the year 1911 from the territory described in Districts Nos. one, two, three, four, five, six and seven (1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7), referred to and mentioned in the official specifications adopted by said Board for the removal of such garbage, which specifications are on file in the office of said Board and are for identification, signed by the parties hereto; such kitchen garbage, tin cans, broken dishes and glassware to be collected and removed in accordance with and as provided by such specifications above referred to, which are hereby made a part of this contract, and all the conditions, terms and provisions of said specifications shall be complied with and performed by the parties hereto, the same as if such specifications and provisions thereof were set forth in full in the body of this contract.

In consideration of the covenants and agreements herein expressed the party of the first part agrees to pay to the party of the second part the sum of six thousand eight hundred and fifty dollars ($6,850.00), said sum to be paid in equal monthly installments at the end of each month, and for the work performed under this contract during such month, less such deductions as the said Board of Public Works may be authorized to make under said specifications, or this contract.

It is further agreed by the parties hereto that this contract shall not be by party of second part assigned, in whole or in part, without the written consent of said Board of Public Works, and the second party shall and hereby agrees to furnish a bond in the sum of thirty-five hundred dollars ($3,500.00), to be approved by the Board of Public Works, conditioned that he will faithfully comply with and carry out the terms and stipulations of his part to be performed, contained in this contract and said specifications.

It being understood that the party of the second part and his drivers and employees will, while in the execution of the within contract, obey and conform to all said ordinances and for any violation of the same the second party will be liable on his bond for the payment of any penalties that may be found against him or his employees. It being also understood that the party of the second part will see to it that the top of the wagons used by him in carrying garbage shall be covered at all times while the same are passing through the streets and shall at no time be so loaded that the cover cannot be closed. It is further understood that he will see to it that his employees and drivers will report to the Board of Health all places where proper receptacles for the holding of garbage are not provided or any other violations of any other city ordinances relating to the manner in which garbage shall be kept by the householder, for which purpose each employee of said second party shall be supplied by party of second part with a book containing blank slips or notices on which shall be placed the name and address of the offender and the same turned in to the Superintendent of the Crematory and in turn by him delivered to the Board of Health.

It is also understood that said second party will file with the Board of Public Works a routing, showing the said points, the way and detail in which the route is covered by the driver so that the driver of any garbage wagon can be found practically at any time by consulting the route sheet; second party agreeing not to make any change in such route until the same is approved by the Board of Public Works for any failure to file said routing, or to follow the same or for making any changes therein without first receiving permission from the Board of Public Works, or for failing to collect garbage properly as herein provided; said second party agrees that he shall pay to the party of the first part as liquidated damages the sum of one dollar ($1.00) for each and every failure or violation of said provisions.

It being also further understood that said second party shall at all times keep working and in operation not less than 7 wagons or as many more as may be necessary.

GENERAL ORDINANCE NO. 463.

An ordinance approving a contract entered into by and between the City of Fort Wayne, by and through its Board of Public Works, and The New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad Company.

Whereas, On the 9th day of January, 1911, the Board of Public Works of the City of Fort Wayne, Indiana, on behalf of the City, entered into a contract with The New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad Company for the construction of additional tracks on Barr street, which contract is as follows:

This Agreement, Made and entered into this 9th day of January, 1911, by and between the City of Fort Wayne, by and through its Board of Public Works, party of the first part, and The New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad Company, a corporation, party of the second part, witnesseth:

That the party of the first part hereby grants to the party of the second part, its successors and assigns, subject to the laws and ordinances now in force, or hereafter enacted, authority and permission to lay a single track of railroad over and across Barr street, in the City of Fort Wayne, at the following point, viz: The center line of said track to be twelve and five tenths (12.5) feet North of the center of the main track on the East line of Barr street and fifteen (15) feet North of the center line of the main track on the West line of said street and to connect with the side track of said Company on the East of said street. The permission and authority hereby given are upon the following terms and conditions:

That the track herein authorized to be laid shall be so placed that it will not interfere with the public use of said street. That if the said street is hereafter graded or paved or otherwise improved, that the said party of the second part shall make the grade of its said track conform with the grade established by the Board of Public Works.

That if said street is hereafter paved that said second party shall pay for so much of the pavement as lies between its tracks and the space of two (2) feet on either side thereof. That the grade of said tracks shall be at all times so maintained so as not to interfere with public travel.

That the party of the second part fits of the consent, permission and authority herein granted, shall cause the complete construction of said track within one (1) year from the date thereof.

The party of the second part further agrees and binds itself to keep and hold said City free and harmless from any and all liability from any and all damages that may accrue to any person, persons or property, on account of any injury to their person or property out of the construction, maintenance or operation of said track, or the operation of any cars thereon, by any person or corporation.

This contract shall not in any manner enter into or effect the question of the elevation of the tracks of the second party, and all or any laws that may now or hereafter prescribe the manner of or affect the elevation of the now existing tracks of the party of the second part shall apply to and affect the track to be constructed under this contract.

That the permission herein granted to the said party of the second part shall continue for the period of 25 years from the approval of said contract by the Common Council.

It is further understood and agreed that this contract and the provisions thereof shall be binding upon the successors and assigns of the party of the second part.

GENERAL ORDINANCE NO. 464.

An Ordinance Ratifying and Approving the Contract Between the City of Fort Wayne, Indiana, and Gust Lindeman, Relative to the Building and Constructing of a Storage House on the City Property on North Clinton Street.

Whereas, Heretofore on the 27th day of December, 1910, the City of Fort Wayne, by and through its Board of Public Works, entered into a contract with Gust Lindeman relative to the construction of a storage house on the City property on North Clinton Street, which contract is as follows:

This Agreement, made and entered into this 27th day of December, 1910, by and between the City of Fort Wayne, Indiana, by and through its Board of Public Works, party of the first part, and for convenience hereinafter referred to as the Board, and Gust Lindeman, party of the second part, and for convenience hereinafter referred to as Contractor, witnesseth:

That for and in consideration of the payment by the Board to the Contractor of the sum of money hereinafter referred to, the Contractor hereby agrees to erect and construct a storage house on the City property on North Clinton Street: Said storage house to be built and constructed as set forth in the plans and specifications for the same, subject to certain changes made in such specifications set out in the minutes of the Board of Public Works, sitting as Waterworks Trustees, all of which are made part and parcel of this contract and binding upon the parties hereto the same as if fully copied herein. Said plans and specifications for the purpose of identification and for the purpose of more fully making the same a part thereof, have been signed by the parties hereto as of even date herewith.

The Contractor agrees that he will, within ten days after the execution of this contract and its approval by the Common Council of said City, execute a bond to said City for the faithful performance of the contract and indemnify the City against all damages arising out of said contract, said bond or bonds to be satisfactory to the Board.

The Board shall have the right to make any alterations, additions to, or omissions of work or material in such contract as herein specified that may be deemed advisable and the same shall be acceded to by the Contractor and carried into effect by him without, in any way, violating or vitiating the contract or any bond given by the Contractor; that no alterations, additions to or omissions of work or material shall be made unless the same shall first be ordered by the Board, in writing, and the written agreement entered into between the Board and the Contractor, as to the amount of money to be allowed or deducted for such alterations or additions.

The Contractor further agrees that in the prosecution of said work, all proper skill and care will be exercised; that said Contractor will properly and fully guard and protect all excavations and dangerous places, and will use all due and proper precaution to prevent injury to the property, person or persons, what or whomsoever therefore, and during the time of making such improvement the City of Fort Wayne shall be saved harmless from any and all liability whatsoever growing out of any injury or damage to property or persons because of any neglect or fault of the Contractor, his agent or employees in the execution of this contract or any matters connected therein or relative thereto, and to pay any judgment with costs which may be obtained against said city growing out of any such injury or damages.

Said Contractor further contracts and agrees to pay any and all moneys due any contractor, person or persons furnishing any material for said work and pay any laborers employed by him for any work done in the prosecution of said improvement, and that, in the event any liens are filed with this Board for any such material, men or laborers, this Board is authorized to hold out of the amount of moneys due said Contractor an amount equal to the amount of the liens or claims filed. That before said Contractor shall receive his money for the performance of this work he agrees to fully satisfy the Board that all liens and claims have been paid.

The Board to determine for itself whether the evidence of said payment is or is not satisfactory.

It is hereby expressly understood that no assignment of this contract shall be made to any party without the consent of said Board, in writing, and that said work shall be completed in sixty days after the execution and approval of this contract.

The Contractor agrees to pay the City, as liquidated damages, the sum of five dollars ($5.00) for each and every day that said contract is unfinished after aforesaid time. The City reserving the right, after five days' notice to Contractor, after expiration of aforesaid time, to take possession of the premises and all materials thereon and provide work and material to complete said work and deduct the cost and charges thereof from any sum that may be due said Contractor.

It is agreed by the Board that for and in consideration of the furnishing of said material and the performance of said work, it will pay to the Contractor the sum of twelve hundred and sixty dollars ($1,260.00) on the completion and final acceptance of the work by the Board.

In witness whereof the parties have hereunto set their hands and seals this 27th day of December, 1910.

CITY OF FORTT WAYNE.
By HENRY HILGEMAN,
E. J. LENNON,
Its Board of Public Works.
GUSTAVE LINDEMANN,
Contractor.

Attest: MARTIN DETZER, Secretary.

Know All Men By These Presents, That we, Gust Lindeman and H. Franke, are jointly and severally held and bound unto the City of Fort Wayne, State of Indiana, in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00).

Whereas, The above bound Gust Lindeman entered into a contract with the City of Fort Wayne on the 27th day of December, 1910, relative to the building and constructing of a storage house on the City property on North Clinton Street, and in which contract the said Gust Lindeman obligated himself to execute to said city a bond for faithful performance by him of said contract, as therein provided, now therefore.

If the above bound Gust Lindeman shall well and truly, faithfully and honestly perform all the conditions of said contract referred to, and shall furnish all the material, and perform all the work mentioned in said contract in accordance with, in the manner, within the time, and of the material provided in said contract, specifications, proposals and bids, and shall hold said City harmless from the payment of any and all damages that may accrue to any person or property, then this bond shall be void, otherwise to be and remain in full force and effect.

GUSTAVE LINDEMAN.
H. FRANKE

Approved this 27th day of December, 1910.

HENRY HILGEMAN,
E. J. LENNON,
Board of Public Works.

Section 1. Be it ordained by the Common Council of the City of Fort Wayne, Indiana, that a contract heretofore entered into by and between the City of Fort Wayne, by and through its Board of Public Works, and Gust Lindeman, as fully set forth in the preamble, be and same is in all things ratified and approved.

Section 2. That this ordinance be in full force and take effect from and after its passage and approval by the Mayor and legal publication.

GENERAL ORDINANCE NO. 365.

An ordinance approving a contract entered into by and between the City of Fort Wayne, by and through its Board of Public Works, and the Fort Wayne Electric Works.

Whereas, On the 7th day of December, 1910, the Board of Public Works of the City of Fort Wayne, Indiana, on behalf of the City, entered into a contract with the Fort Wayne Electric Works for the purchase of electric lamps for use in the Municipal Electric Light and Power Works, which contract is in the following words:

CONSUMER'S CONTRACT.
(Future Delivery Order.)

This Agreement, Made this 7th day of December, 1910, between the Fort Wayne Electric Works, a New York corporation (hereinafter called the "Company"), and Board of Public Works, of Fort Wayne, State of Indiana, (hereinafter called the "Purchaser...:

Witnesseth: Whereas, The Company controls or is licensed under certain United States letters patent relating to incandescent electric lamps and processes and apparatus used in the manufacture thereof, which said letters patent are enumerated herein;

And Whereas, The purchasers desires to purchase and the Company is willing to sell to the purchaser incandescent electric lamps embodying or made in accordance with said inventions;

Now, therefore,

1. The Company agrees to sell, and the purchaser agrees to take, within one year from date hereof, and to pay for a quantity of Edison and G. E. incandescent electric lamps, which at the list prices stated in the attached schedules therefor (less hereinafter mentioned discounts), shall aggregate one thousand six hundred dollars, estimated to cover the purchaser's entire requirements of incandescent lamps during the period of one year from date, and purchaser further agrees that his purchases shall not be less than one thousand six hundred dollars. The above lamps will be shipped from time to time as the purchaser may request, and will be billed only as shipped. The purchaser agrees that payments for such shipments shall be made at list prices subject to the discounts to which the purchaser may be entitled as hereinafter stated, within thirty (30) days from the date of invoice.

2. The purchaser is entitled during the period covered by this agreement (but only so long as all the conditions of this agreement are fully lived up to by the purchaser) to the following discounts from the list prices given in the schedules hereto attached:

Schedule No.	Kind of Lamp.	Discount.	Schedule No.	Kind of Lamp.	Discount. Standard Package.	Discount. B'k'n Pkgs.
C—1	Regular Large Carbon	20%	G—1	(Reg. Large Gem—100 watts) (and over	20	10%
				(Meridian Gem	20	10%
C—2	Irregular Large Carbon	20%	T—1	Large Mazda	20&10%	10%
C—4	Cand. & Dec. Min. Car.	20%	T—5	Min. Mazda	20&10%	10%
C—6	Bat. and Tel. Min. Car.	20%	T—6	Street Series Mazda	20&10%	10%
G—1	(Reg. Large Gem—80) (watts and under	20%	T A-1	Large Tantalum	20&10%	10%

3. The Company agrees that lamps purchased under this agreement may be furnished either as free renewals or at any price the purchaser may establish to consumers of current on lighting circuits to which the purchaser supplies current exclusively, or on circuits which are owned or controlled by him.

The purchaser, however, understanding that each lamp purchased under this agreement is a patented article on which the price to all classes of customers is established, agrees that all lamps purchased under this agreement shall be used or sold for use only on circuits to which he supplies current exclusively, or on circuits owned or controlled by him, except that to consumers having what is termed a break down connection and purchasing a part only of their yearly supply of current from the purchaser, lamps may be furnished only at the prices established by the Company (which established prices can be obtained from time to time upon application to the Company). But the purchaser agrees that lamps purchased under this agreement will not be delivered or sold at any price to or for the use of jobbers, dealers or contractors purchasing lamps for resale.

4. The purchaser agrees that the transportation (not including cartage) allowed on lamps shall be in accordance with the Company's published rules regarding deliveries as shown in delivery schedule hereto attached.

5. The Company agrees that at any time after thirty (30) days from its acceptance of this agreement, or at any time after thirty (30) days from its acceptance of any additional future delivery orders under this agreement (provided that the purchaser at the date of such acceptance shall have specified fully the types of lamps required under this agreement or any additions thereto) it will make prompt shipments, and if at any time thereafter prompt shipments cannot be made, should the necessities of the purchaser require express shipments, express charges will be prepaid or allowed in accordance with the Company's published rules regarding deliveries as shown in delivery schedules herewith. The purchaser agrees that broken package quantities of lamps are to be supplied by the Company, with no allowance for transportation, f. o. b. only the Company's factory or established storerooms.

6. The Company further agrees that the net prices allowed the purchaser under this agreement are the lowest given similar purchasers purchasing in like amounts who may have signed future delivery orders with the Company, and that during the period covered by this agreement, should the Company make any reduction in price affecting similar customers purchasing in like amounts, the purchaser shall be immediately notified, and will thereafter receive the benefit of such reduction in price on lamps shippped after the day on which such lower prices take effect.

7. Breach of any of the provisions of this contract, or any failure to maintain and observe prices, rules and regulations in accordance herewith shall give the Company the option immediately to cancel this contract, and the purchaser is hereby expressly put on notice that in case of any such failure, he can thereafter obtain lamps manufactured under the letters patent hereon enumerated only at standard package prices, without any discount whatever, or in case he fails to take and pay for during the ensuing year all the lamps contracted for hereunder, he can thereafter obtain lamps manufactured under the letters patent hereon enumerated only at a price based on the net value of lamps actually purchased hereunder.

8. It is understood that subject to cancellation at any time at the Company's option, the purchaser may purchase Mazda and Tantalum lamps from any licensed manufacturer and that the purchaser is excused from taking the full quantity of lamps required hereunder, provided it can be shown by the purchaser that during the period of this contract and prior to the date of written notification of said cancellation he has purchased from any licensed manufacturer or his agents a quantity of Mazda and Tantalum lamps, of all styles except miniature (made under the provisions of the license agreement), the aggregate net price value of which, together with the purchases under this contract, make up the required quantity.

9. This agreement does not become binding upon the Company until accepted in writing at the foot hereof by the sales manager or his duly authorized representative located in the main sales office of the Company.

J. P. LENNART HEADS THE LIST

PENNSYLVANIA TO INCREASE POWER

Has Seven New and Powerful Motors Ready for Installation.

Final organization was effected at a meeting at the Commercial club last night when the Fort Wayne Transportation club elected officers and took definite action on the by laws and constitution which will govern its work in the future. The officers are:

J. P. Lennart, president.

H. E. Allison, third vice president and chairman of the house committee.

R. B. Coapstick, secretary.

W. D. Birbeck, treasurer.

The membership of the club includes traffic men, freight agents, shippers, carriers and business men and the offices have been pretty evenly distributed among them. J. P. Lennart is traffic manager for the Western Gas Construction company; E. T. Wood is division freight agent for the Pennsylvania; C. S. Bash is the head of the big grain and milling concern that bears his name; H. E. Allison is freight agent for the Nickel Plate; R. B. Coapstick was formerly a traffic manager for a big manufacturing company. Each of these officers were called upon for a speech and responded after the election, pledging support to the club, and in his speech, President Lennart explained fully the objects of the association, which are to bring the shippers, carrier representatives and business men in close touch with each other and to eliminate some of the evils that exist at present.

The charter will be held open for ninety days in order that all who are eligible to membership and wish to do so can get in as charter members. The next meeting will be held at the Commercial club rooms Thursday night, February 9.

IMPROVING THE POWER.

Pennsylvania Installs Seven Motors in Shops.

Four 40-horse power motors ... three 30-horse power motors of the ... rect current pattern have arrived at the Pennsylvania shops and will be installed in the place of the alternating and less powerful type of motors now in use in the shops. These new motors were built by the Ohio Electric and Machine company, of Columbus, O., and are known as the "Garwood" motors. This change is made to meet the demand upon the electrical department of the Pennsylvania next winter, when the new depot will be ready for business. Another improvement at the shops to be made soon is the installation of an electric elevator connecting the tank and the tin shops and taking the place of the old style elevator that has been in service a number of years. The new elevator is here now and will be installed soon. It is an automatic machine and is regarded the best pattern made.

TO TALK TO RAILROADERS.

W. H. Thomas to Speak at O. R. C. Hall Tonight.

W. H. Thomas, of Kansas City, who has been at work in the city for two weeks in the interest of the American Railway Employes' and Investors' association, of which P. H. Morrissey is the president, will lecture at the O. R. C. hall this evening, the audience being members of the four railway brotherhoods. The committee of arrangements for the meeting is composed of M. O. Ginty, of the O. R. C.; Chester Durnell, of the B. L. E.; George Bradley, of the B. R. T., and P. A. Neuman, of the B. L. F. & E. It is proposed to install a local chapter of the association in Fort Wayne and it is probable that preliminary organization will be effected tonight. Shopmen and all who approve the objects of the association can join it. The Sentinel explained the objects of the association several years ago. About 150 extra chairs have been placed in the hall and a crowd is expected.

WILL USE PERU HOSPITAL.

The rumor circulated a week ago that the Chesapeak and Ohio and Indiana would use the Wabash railway hospital at Peru has been confirmed by an official bulletin sent out to the employes of that company. The bulletins say that beginning February 1 every employe of the C. & O. between Cincinnati and Chicago will be assessed for the maintenance of the hospital, and this assessment will entitle the employe to treatment and board at the hospital in case of accident or sickness without further charge. Dr. E. H. Griswold, who has been the house surgeon a number of years, will remain in charge.

MORE ABOUT NEW ROAD.

Findlay People Believe in the Project.

Findlay, O., Jan. 26.—Since the New York Central's acquirement of the Toledo and Ohio Central lines many rumors of improvements are being circulated. First among the number is the building of a line from ... Marys to Fort Wayne, Ind., con... with the Nickel Plate, a ... rk Central property, and ... new and shorter line from ... to Chicago by 40 miles. ... that early this spring will ... work on this extension.

INSPECTING THE ROAD.

The annual inspection by division officials of the Grand Rapids and Indiana road is on this week. It began yesterday morning and the officials expect to complete it Saturday night. Bridges, road bed and yards at the various stations are receiving attention. In the party are Superintendent E. H. Hudson, Division Engineer C. L. Banaby, Trainmaster R. E. Casey and Road Foreman of Engines A. L. Lopshire.

WILL ATTEND BANQUET.

E. T. Wood, division freight agent of the Pennsylvania, went to Chicago this morning and this evening he will attend the banquet of the Traffic club of Chicago, of which he is a member. This club's territory extends to every point in the United States, Canada and Mexico that has a railway and shippers. Otherwise it is the same as the Fort Wayne Transportation club.

LABORER HAS LEG BROKEN.

Joseph Mungo, a laborer at the Rolling Mills, had a leg broken yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock while at work at the mills. The Barnett ambulance was called and the injured man taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where the mills' surgeon attended him. The injury was the result of a piece of iron falling on Mungo.

GONE IN SEARCH OF AID.

C. M. Robyans, of the Pennsylvania shops, who encountered a pile of sand on the streets three months ago while riding his wheel and was thrown off and sustained a fractured arm, has not recovered from the injury. He left yesterday for Youngstown to consult a specialist in the hope of getting relief.

GET ANOTHER BIG ENGINE.

Yesterday No. 9999, one of the big passenger locomotives of the K-2 type, arrived at the Pennsylvania round house and will be put in the passenger service at once. There are now ten of these big engines in service on the Western division.

EMPLOYES TRANSFERRED.

Robert Mungovan has been transferred from the draughting department in the east car shops of the Pennsylvania to Foreman Branson's office in the motive power department and the vacant place at the car shops has been filled by Robert Ryan, formerly assistant to Draughtsman H. S. Borhek, and C. H. Mennewisch has succeeded Mr. Ryan. Mr. Mennewisch was formerly employed in the machine shop.

TRANSFERRED TO OFFICE WORK.

Peter H. Goda, for two years a foreman of one of the departments at the Pennsylvania round house, has been transferred to the motive power offices down town and assigned special duties. Frank Schille, a machinist in the down town shops, has been transferred to the round house to take the place vacated by Mr. Goda until the position has been filled by appointment.

STRUCK WITH HAMMER.

H. Busz, a laborer in the Pennsylvania erecting shop, received a jolt yesterday that would have put a less husky fellow to "sleep." While he was at work his companion inadvertently struck him a terrific blow with a hammer on the neck. He is off duty as a result, but is not badly hurt.

DAN LEARY COMING.

Auditor T. J. Leary, of the Baltimore and Ohio road, left Baltimore this morning for Fort Wayne and is due here today. He comes to join Mrs. Leary, who has been visiting her relatives for several days. "Dan" Leary was connected with the Pennsylvania and lived in this city many years.

TO YOUNGSTOWN ON BUSINESS.

John R. Conick, assistant foreman of the Pennsylvania round house, went to Youngstown yesterday on business for the company. Foreman B. F. Sarver, of the boiler department, will leave for that city on a similar mission this evening.

DISCHARGED FROM HOSPITAL.

Engineer W. H. Slagle was discharged from St. Joseph's hospital and returned to his home this morning. Mr. Slagle has recovered almost entirely from his injuries, received in the Nevada wreck, and will be able to be about town within a few days.

TOURING PACIFIC COAST.

Conductor Tom O'Connell and Engineer J. C. Pearson, of the Pennsylvania, with their families are en route to the Pacific coast country. Mr. O'Connell goes on account of the poor health of his wife and may remain west two or three months.

CLOSED FOR INVENTORY

The annual inventory at the plant of the Western Gas Construction company is on and until it is completed there will be nothing doing otherwise at the shops. The works closed Tuesday night and will not resume operations until Monday morning.

ALL THE PILING DOWN.

The last of the piling under the elevated tracks at Calhoun street were removed yesterday and work upon the street beneath the tracks can now be carried on as originally planned.

AUXILIARY PEDRO PARTY.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the B. of R. T. will give a pedro party in their hall, 1026 Calhoun street, tomorrow afternoon. Three prizes will be given.

ATTENDING IRON CONVENTION.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

C. R. Colmey, road foreman of engines of the Pennsylvania, is in Pittsburg on business for the company.

G. R. & I. Engineer F. C. Cook is kept from his duties on the road by the serious illness of his mother.

C. L. Bartholome, signal supervisor of the Pennsylvania, is suffering from an attack of the grip and failed to get down to his office today.

J. H. Doyle, who came here from Ohio a short time ago to take a job in the Pennsylvania smith shop, has resigned and will return to his old home.

Machinist Frank Hughes had an eye injured yesterday when a piece of steel got in the optic. He is off duty from the Pennsylvania shops as a result.

KAHN SKETCHES WIZARD OF RAIL

WAS A GREAT FIGHTER

New York, Jan. 26.—Vivid light was thrown on hitherto unexplored phases of the character of the late Edward H. Harriman and revelations made of coups previously unknown to the general public achieved by him in the financial world—including the capture from Thomas Fortune Ryan of one-half of the latter's holdings in the Equitable Life Assurance society—by Otto H. Kahn, member of the banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., director of the Equitable Trust company, and colleague of the dead financier, in an address in this city last night before the Finance Forum.

A considerable part of the address dealt with the logic and impulses which guided Harriman's actions in the world of finance and his attitude during the storm of public wrath which broke over him during the panic of 1907.

Kept a Bad Temper

"Mr. Harriman was a master of what Whistler called 'the gentle art of making enemies,'" said Mr. Kahn. "His manner was brusque; he was short-tempered, though he had his temper under perfect control and never lost it, whatever the provocation. If there was any fighting going on within earshot he was tempted to take a hand in the fray and the greater the odds against his side the better.

"A good instance of this propensity is afforded in his participation in the fight which arose from the clash of the Alexander and Hyde factions in the Equitable Life in 1905. Mr. Harriman had nothing to do with the original trouble. Yet he jumped into the contest with both feet, so that in the end he became almost the principal and probably the most attacked figure in the conflict, both warring factions pausing to pour their fire of abuse upon him.

Forces Ryan to Split.

"When Mr. Ryan bought the control of the Equitable Life Assurance society Mr. Harriman claimed to share in the purchase. Mr. Ryan refused positively and publicly. For five years nothing more was heard of the matter. Only a short while ago it became known that a year before his death Mr. Harriman had purchased from Mr. Ryan one-half of his holdings.

"A high placed personage temporarily residing in Japan during the year 1905 told me that the most amazing thing he had ever witnessed was the way in which Mr. Harriman in the course of a ten days' visit to Tokio made a whirlwind campaign among the leading men and succeeded in carrying away from the wily, wary, slow moving orientals a most important contract—so important and so far-reaching that had it been carried out (and it was no fault of Mr. Harriman's that it was not) the course of far eastern diplomacy in recent years would have been different in some essential aspects.

"True to his fatal gift of getting into trouble, he managed to become the storm center around which the agitation for reform in railroad laws raged most violently. He was held up to execration as the arch-type of law-defying corporation managers; he was singled out as the horrible example.

Public Prejudice Stirred.

"One of the chief reasons for the widespread and long-continued popular misconception in respect to Mr. Harriman's motives, character and methods arose from the fact that he failed to recognize, as indeed most financiers of his day failed to recognize; that a man holding the power and occupying the conspicuous place he did was a legitimate object for public scrutiny, and that if opportunity for such scrutiny was denied, if the people were met instead with silence, secrecy, impatience and resentment of their desire for information, the public mind very naturally became infected with suspicion and lent a willing ear to all sorts of gossip and rumors.

"The temptation to the arbitrary and selfish exercise of great power is so strong that the burden of proof that men can be safely trusted with its possession is nowadays rightly laid upon those in high positions.

Magnanimous in Career.

"The most spectacular episode in Mr. Harriman's career was the contest for the control of the Northern Pacific railroad. It was entered into in defense of what he considered vital interests of the property, for which he was chiefly responsible. Although he held a winning hand, instead of boldly playing it he contented himself with a drawn battle and with terms of peace which gave to the other side the appearance of victory.

"The crisis in Mr. Harriman's career came early in the year 1907. The Harriman Extermination League—if I may so call it—played its trump card by poisoning President Roosevelt's mind against Mr. Harriman by gross misrepresentations. A kind of hysteria of fury against him swept over the land.

Ignores Public Clamor.

"Amidst all this terrifying din Mr. Harriman stood firm as a rock, calm, silent and dignified, and he rode out the storm. The fight lasted for a full year. Gradually the aspect of affairs began to change. One fine morning it became known that, directing matters from a sick bed, he had saved a railroad from bankruptcy by one of his characteristic strokes of combined boldness and wisdom. This marked the end of the 1907 panic. From that time on his star rose rapidly again."

Harriman's own story of what he himself declared to be the achievement of which he himself was most proud, the saving of the Imperial Valley from inundation, was told by Mr. Kahn. He quoted Harriman as follows:

President Asked Aid.

"The government's efforts to control the river proved unavailing, and finally President Roosevelt telegraphed me to ask whether the forces of men and engineers we had could and would undertake the work of saving the situation. I wired direction to suspend all other work and to give this job the right of way over everything else, regardless of disturbance of traffic or of expense, and I telegraphed President Roosevelt that we could and would undertake the task of saving the Imperial Valley.

"And then we started on the race with the elements, and I used every ounce of driving power I possessed to hustle the job as I have never hustled any job before. We beat the flood and averted untold loss and suffering. And here you have a case with a vengeance, of virtue being its own reward, because congress has never yet paid us back our outlay, though the president sent it a message to ask that we be reimbursed."

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 26.—Big Argentine shipments were influential today in forcing down the price of wheat. Liverpool, too, reported free realizing of profits there in the congested March delivery and sold of liberal Russian offerings. It was also stated that provincial markets in England seemed depressed. The shipments from Argentine were estimated at 2,800,000 bushels, against 952,000 bushels a year ago. Cash demand on the American side of the Atlantic continued slow. Opening figures were ⅛@¼c to ⅜@½c off. May started at 98½c to 98¾c, showing the extreme variation of the market as a whole. A descent to 98⅜c followed.

Huge increase of the estimated yield in Roumania weakened corn. May opened a sixteenth lower to ⅛c higher at 50½@50⅝c to 50¾c and fell to 50⅛@50¼c.

The oats market was neglected, and though firm at the outset eased off with other grain. May started unchanged at 34¾c, touched 34¾@34⅞c and declined to 34⅝c.

Provisions became strong because of a smaller run of hogs. First sales were 2½c to 10c up with May options at $18.37½ to $18.40 for pork, $9.52½ for lard and 9.85 for ribs.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, N. Y., January 26.—Business was light and price changes were unimportant at the opening of the stock market today. Northern Pacific and Lehigh Valley were strong with an advance of ⅝ each. American Locomotive gained ¾ and Reading, United States Steel and Union Pacific advanced fractionally. Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis opened a point off and some heaviness was shown by People's Gas and Virginia Carolina Chemical.

Selling orders were distributed after the opening and the market sagged. Reading, against which the pressure was heaviest, receded a point. Supporting orders checked the downward movement and prices rallied, with the Harriman stocks, Reading, Atchison and United States Steel selling ½ to ⅞ above yesterday's close. Central Leather lost one.

The stock market made no important response to the reduction of the Bank of England's discount rate. Trading was dull throughout the morning at fractional advances following the early decline, and the undertone was firm. The Harriman stocks were strong in spite of a revival of the reports of an impending decision affecting the issues. Some significance was attached to the firmness of Southern Pacific and New York Central in view of the report that both roads are soon to announce important financing. Operations in the second hour were on a diminishing scale with prices ruling a trifle below their earlier high figures. Bonds were steady.

There was a slight demand for Canadian Pacific, which advanced 1⅝. Otherwise the market was dull and unchanged.

The market closed firm. St. Paul extended its rise to a point after the declaration of the regular semi-annual dividend. Increased activity and a gain of three points in Bethlehem Steel were due to satisfaction over the recent large orders for rails placed with the company. The rest of the list was featureless, but tended higher.

THE MONEY MARKET.

SOCIALISTS IN DEBATING CLUB

Form Society and Will Admit All Comers to Membership.

WILL MEET WEEKLY

The Economic club, launched at a socialist meeting last Saturday night, held its first meeting in the assembly room of the court house Wednesday night and formally organized, changing its name from the Economic club to the Allen County Debating society, to which all comers will be admitted to membership regardless of whether they are members of the socialist party or not. C. M. Maxwell was elected secretary of the society. Owing to the small attendance at the meeting the discussion on "The High Cost of Living and How to Meet It," which was to have been opened by Clarence H. Taylor, was postponed until the next meeting.

The purpose of the new society as stated by Clarence Taylor, temporary chairman of the meeting, is to increase the knowledge of the members by the discussion of sociological, theological, religious and civic questions, a different subject being discussed each week at meetings to be held in the court house if the assembly room can be secured. The society is copied after the Liberal Arts society of Philadelphia and the Free Forum of New York and Brooklyn.

A slight disagreement arose over the question as to whether the discussion should include religious subjects, one of the members raising the objection that it might cause friction. Mr. Taylor replied to this by stating that because a man got up in a debating society and discussed an idea in a debate it did not necessarily imply that he believed in what he was discussing. Another member presented the objection that it might influence the audience against socialism, to which the chairman replied that any man who would take offense at another man's personal religion did not have sense enough to be a socialist.

The next meeting of the society will be held Saturday, Feb. 4, and at that meeting subjects for discussion for three or four meetings will be given out in order that the members may consult books in the library and prepare themselves to take part in the discussions. Chairman Clarence H. Taylor was again selected to lead the discussion on the subject which was to have come up last night. A committee elected last night will report at the next meeting on subjects selected for discussion at the two succeeding meetings.

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS

Are tonic in action, quick in results. A special medicine for all kidney and bladder disorders. Mr. and Mrs. J. Bockley, Fort Wayne, Ind., says: "My husband and myself were both troubled with severe pains in the back and were recommended to take Foley Kidney Pills. We did so and the results were wonderful. After taking them a short time the backache left myself and also my husband and we have been perfectly cured ever since. We feel we owe our good health to the timely use of Foley Kidney Pills." CITY BREVITIES.

Jesse L. Scott, of Detroit, formerly located in Fort Wayne as agent for the Prudential Life Insurance company for this district, was a visitor in the city Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. G. Portman, of Sturgis, Mich., submitted to the surgical operation known as the Cesarian section at St. Joseph's hospital yesterday afternoon. It is declared to have been entirely successful.

Arthur R. Smith, the Fort Wayne aviator, whose areoplane was given a successful test a few days ago, is deluged with letters offering to teach him to fly. But Mr. Smith has already demonstrated his own ability in this direction.

Dr. G. W. McCaskey, of this city, and Dr. Rawles, of Huntertown, delivered the papers at the meeting of the Fort Wayne Medical society last evening. Next Tuesday evening the speaker will be Dr. Metcalf, of Detroit, who will discuss "The Division of Fees." A luncheon at the Commercial club will follow.

It is now expected that the new Washington school will be ready for occupancy on February 6, and that the James H. Smart school on East Pontiac street will be available a few weeks later.

Members of the Kappa Alpha Phi fraternity will assemble in Fort Wayne at Easter time for their annual state meeting, and local members of the fraternity, who number 28, are already making preparations for the event. The principal feature of the meeting, which will convene two days, will be an Easter ball, for the members and their friends, at the Minuet building.

Secretary P. T. Strieder, of the Fort Wayne Fair association, is negotiating for the appearance of Madam Marantette and her trained horses as one of the free attractions at the fair next fall. Madam Marantette, who is the most famous horsewoman in America, first appeared in Fort Wayne many years ago, when what is now Swinney park was used as a fair grounds.
